Five Bucks

The Five Bucks, Ritzville men's handicap bowling team, was tops at a zone BPAA tournament in Wenatchee last weekend.

Four other local men's teams crashed through for high ranking scores among the zone's nine teams certified for forthcoming state competition in Tacoma. They are Lelever's Mobil, Nauditt's Grocery, Circle T Inn and Bob's TV and Radio.

Fourteen teams from Big Bend Bowl were eligible to enter the Wenatchee trials, one in four of those organized in leagues here. Entries at Wenatchee totaled 99. Eliminations at the zone level send nine teams back home for each one forwarded to state competition. Of the nine teams to be chosen for the Tacoma tourney, five come from Ritzville. The performance speaks highly of the level of bowling at the local lanes.

Members of the top team, the Five Bucks, are Jack Eken, Don Holmes, Harry Arlt, Gene Arlt and Pete Leteyve. No one touched their score of 3,193.

at Local Lanes

Numerous season records were established the last three weeks at Airport Lanes as local keglers displayed their finest form of the season.

Leading the way were two teams wearing the colors of Snider's Trucking.

The ladies' entry in the Tuesday Matorette league rolled a 2,311 team series and an 833 team game, best of the season in that league. The men's team posted a 2,454 series and 867 game, both of which are tops in the Thursday Independent league.

Eddy's Bread rolled a 2,488 team series to tie the previous high in the Monday City league. Also in the City league, the Highway cafe crew rolled a top 900 team game three weeks ago only to have it edged the following week with a 904 by the Steinmetz Fuel Yard gang.

Harry Arlt turned in the best individual series of the season to date in the City league on games of 224-224-165 to net a 703 handicap total.

Jim Schoesler had a 700 handicap total in the Big Bend league from scratch games of 231-223-189.

In other ladies' league activity, Laura Telecky and Hazel Smith posted 209 single games and Barbara Fode a 202.

Other callers were Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Heimbigner and daughters of Ephrata.

Big Bend Cooperative Celebrating 2 Events

Big Bend Electric Cooperative, Inc. is celebrating the 25th anniversary of the rural electrification program this week with many other similar organizations throughout the nation, and its 20th consecutive year of service to Adams county farmers.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the executive order May 11, 1935, that created the Rural Electrification Administration. Big Bend co-op was founded four years later in 1939 and energized in August of 1940 — nearly 20 years ago.

BIG BEND CO-OP had its beginning when a series of farmers' meetings were called by George Burkhalter, former county extension agent, in the late 1930s. Through REA, the farmers felt, they could obtain complete rural electrification in Adams county. The farmers filed articles of incorporation which were approved September 5, 1939.

Application was made for an initial REA loan of $267,000 to construct lines in the Ritzville, Paha, Carico Hills, Benge and Balston areas and a feeder through the Sand Hills to Hatton. Known as Project "A," the 268 miles of line would serve 279 cooperative members. S. S. Allen was project superintendent.

Electric Contracting company of Seattle won the bid for Project "A" at $173,315 and Big Bend's first construction was begun. Engineering work started in January, 1940, and the first lines were energized on August 17. In December, 1940, Harry H. Hudlow succeeded Allen as project engineer.

BONNEVILLE power became available to the Big Bend Electric in June, 1942. This made possible a reduction in retail rates and reduced cost of wholesale power to the cooperative by $6,200 annually.

Project after project followed the end of World War II and the cooperative prospered and grew.

Today, just 20 years after a group of Adams county farmers organized, the cooperative is serving 2,500 members. It owns 1,700 miles of line and the system is valued at more than $5,500,000.

OF THE $5,500,000 investment the co-op has borrowed from Rural Electrification Administration, $686,000 has been returned in principal plus interest. It also has made advance payments of $125,000. More than 600 of its 2,500-plus meters are for irrigation.

Included on the current board of directors are Robert Franz of Ritzville, president; Lester Lyle of Cunningham, vice president; John Schlomer of Benge, secretary; Harry Arlt of Ritzville, treasurer; and Dale Taylor of Ritzville, Marvin Jones of Snake River, Harry Bair, jr., of Pasco, Henry Cummings of Mesa, Jackson Williams of Lind, trustees.

The Ritzville staff includes Edgar H. Collison, manager; Robert Blodgett, office manager; Elmer Heimbigner, Arlene Lobe, Eileen Langford, Janice Iltz, Terry Linker, Arnie Schuman and Vic Wagner, all of Ritzville.

Highest Game Is Rolled Here by Rudy Roth

The top game of the current bowling season was seen during the recent holiday tournament at the Airport Lanes.

With the season record of 268 as a starter, Rudy Roth added games of 190-201-172 for a four-game scratch total of 831 and a 907 handicap total to easily win the singles division.

Other prize winners in the singles event were Virgil Snyder with an 865, Harry Arlt, 856, Albert Bauer, 849, Jack Eken, 842, Ron Kison, 834, Lloyd DeVore, 826, Warren Kautz, 818, and Rich Wahl, 805.

The men's team event was a close contest with the Edlie Chevrolet-Pontiac gang taking first with 3,215, the Circle T Inn second with 3,208, and the Red and Whiners third with 3,203.

In the ladies' division, the National Bank of Commerce crew won out with a 2,929 total, while Burroughs Insurance with a 2,850 was second.

The ladies' singles event produced the most unusual results ever seen in a local tournament. After 16 entrants had finished their four-game sessions, Betty Benedict, Jean Eken and Elma Ahern had tied for first place with identical scores of 769. Laura Telecky won fourth place with 43.

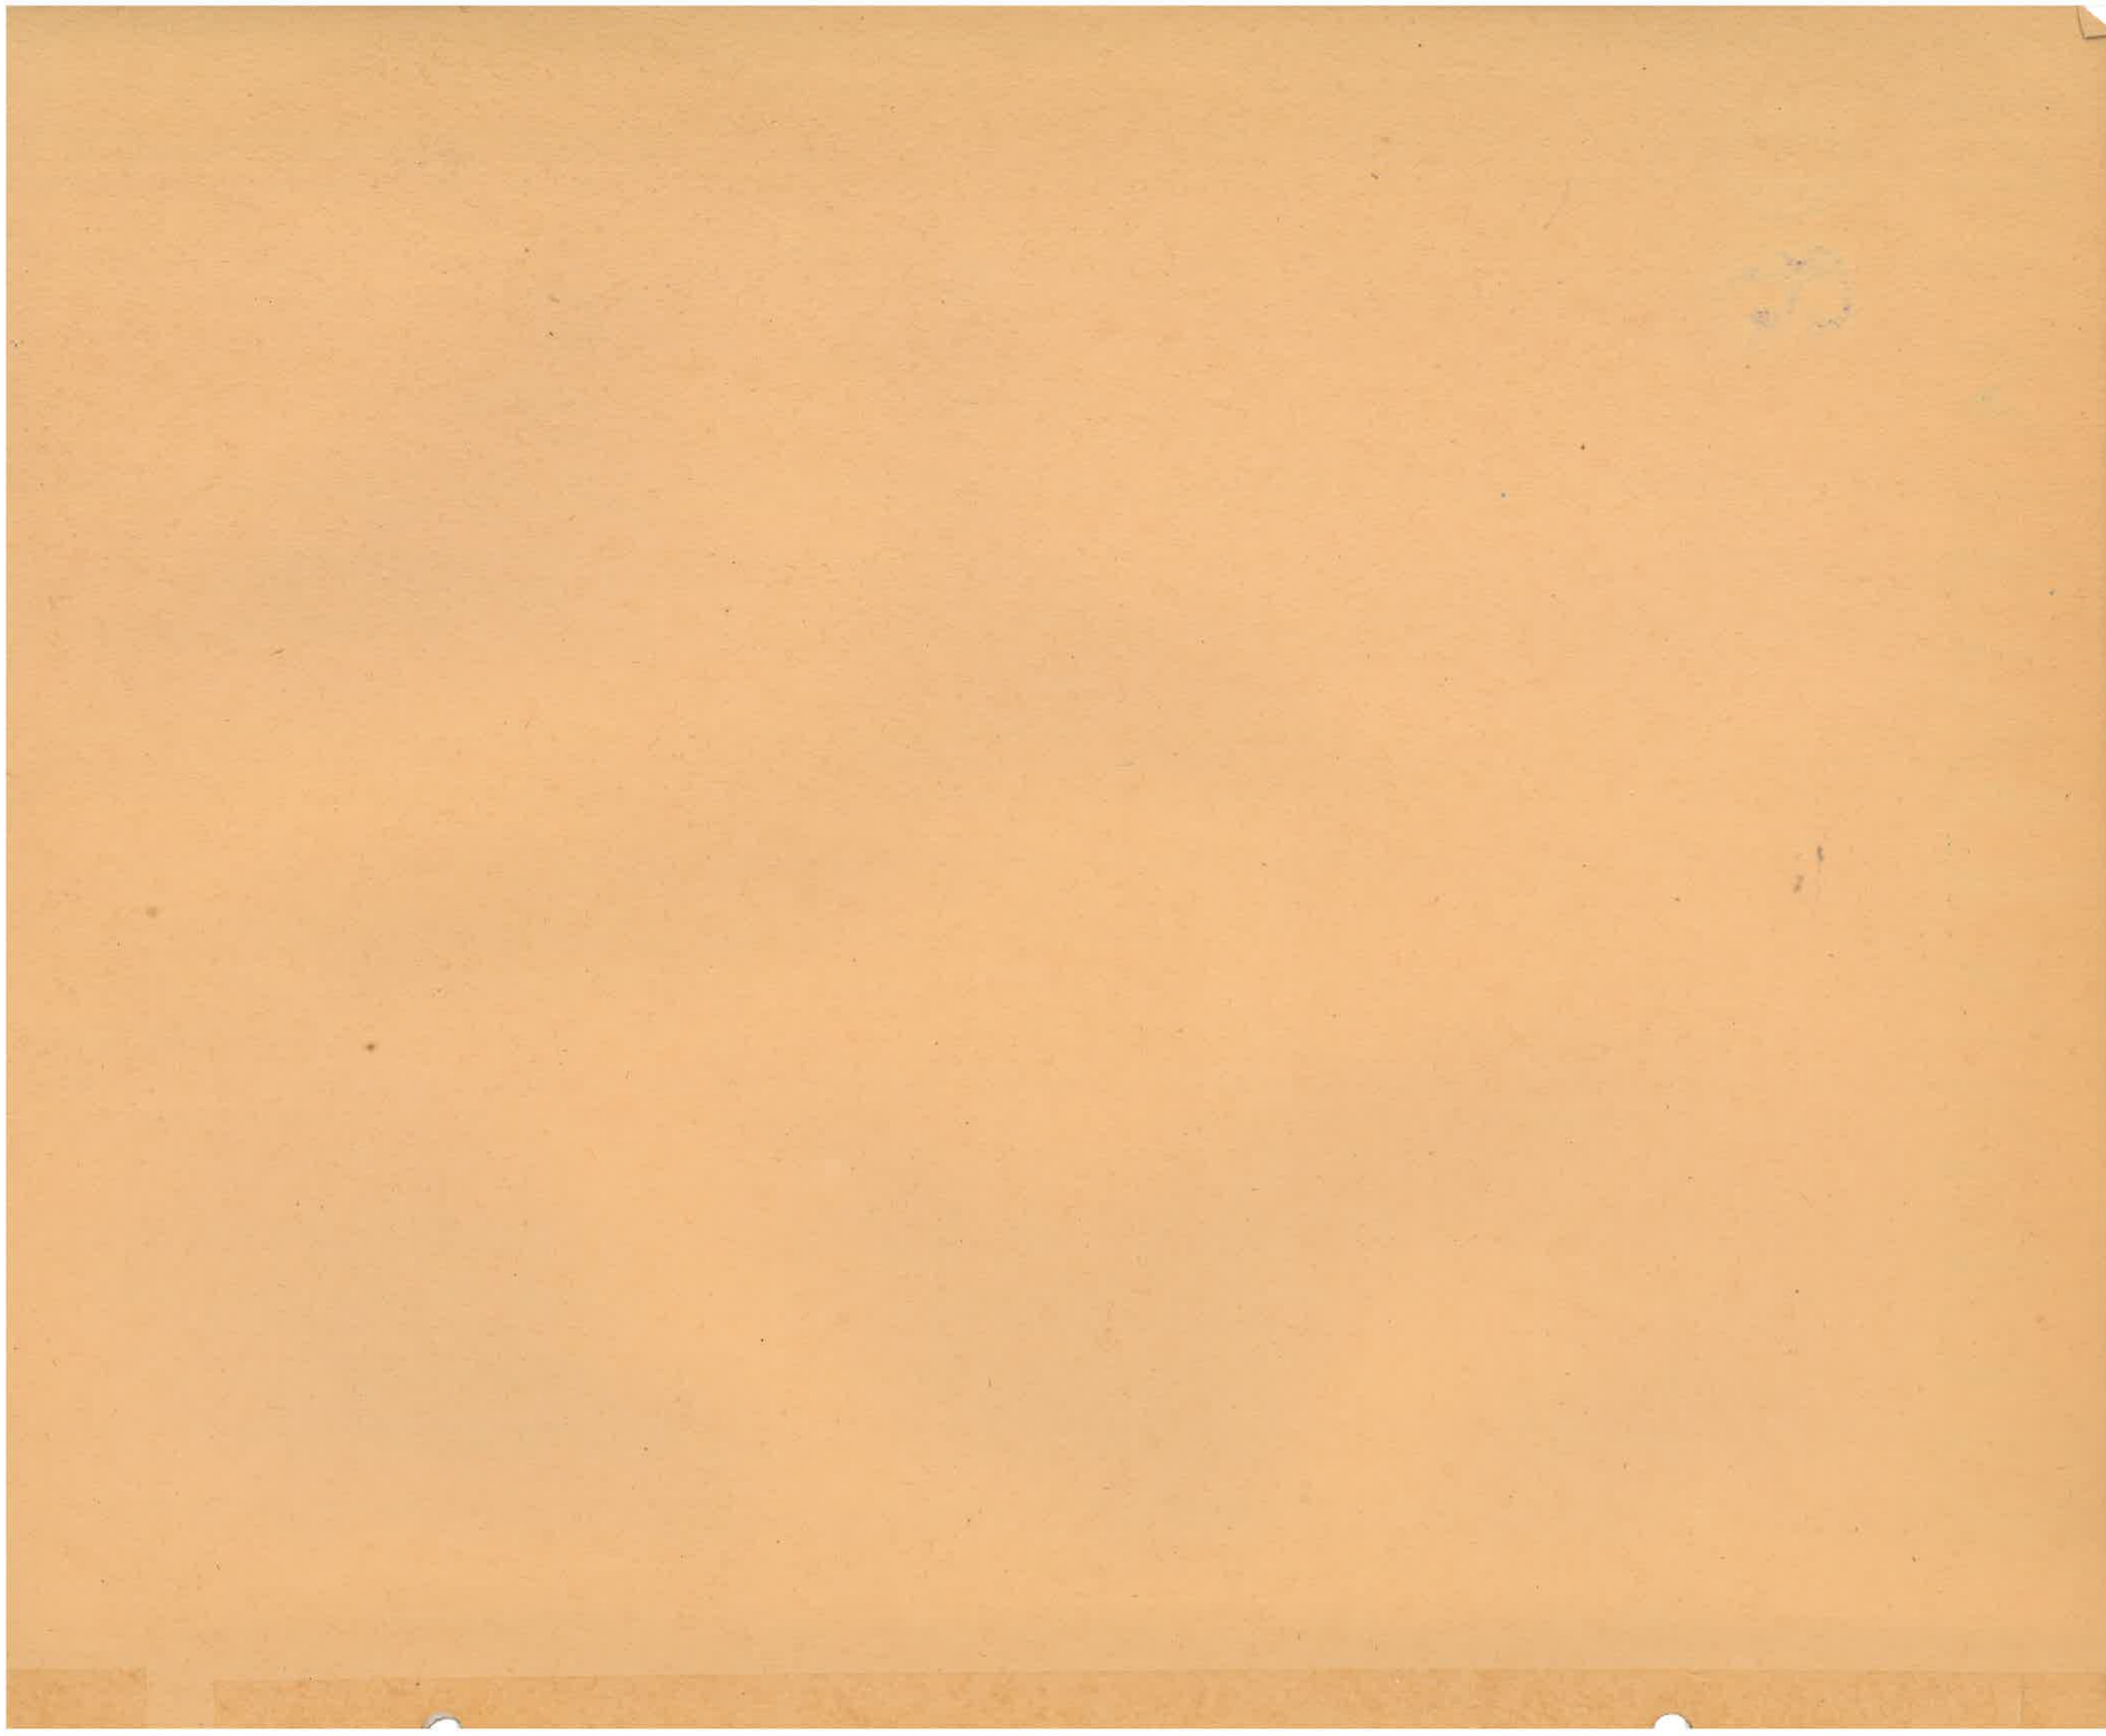

BIG BEND OFFICERS.

Robert Franz of Lind was re-elected president of Big Bend Electric Cooperative Thursday at the company's 22nd annual meeting at the Marcellus Grange hall. Officers include, first row from left, L. D. Lyle, board member, Harry Bair, jr., vice president, and board members, Jackson Williams, Marvin Jones and Henry Cummings. In the back row, from left, are Franz, John Schlomer, secretary, Leonard Jansen, Big Bend attorney, and Harry Arlt, treasurer. Another board member, Dale Taylor, is not shown.

By GEORGE N. MEXERS

Seattle Times Sports Editor
The president of the world's largest sports club turned out for basketball but never quite made it at Washington's Ritzville High School.

"Oh, I may have picked up a junior-varsity letter," said Dr. Harry M. Cross, 55, elected president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association at its convention this week in Los Angeles.

The choice to head the organization which governs sports in more than 600 universities and colleges, was a surprise even to close friends of Cross—not because of his qualifications but because he is not an office-seeker.

Cross, a University of Washington law professor, learned that the job was seeking him two months ago. The N.C.A.A. does not move its officers "through the chairs" — that is, the vice president does not automatically step into the presidency.

"I didn't campaign for it, but I am proud that the people who know about the affairs of inter-collegiate athletics were willing, perhaps desirous, that I take the job," said Cross, for six years Washington's faculty athletic representative to the Pacific-8 Conference. He was conference president two years ago.

Until appointment to the Washington conference job after the death of Jack Gose, also a law professor, Cross' interest in sports was as an active fan of Husky football and basketball and Seattle's Triple A baseball team.

Cross became familiar with athletic department programs and problems as a member of the Board of Control of the Associated Students of the University of Washington.

"I can think of no other reason why I was appointed faculty representative to the conference," Cross said.

Son of a Ritzville real-estate broker, Cross is a 1936 graduate of Washington State University Law School staff in 1943.

Buried in his background is a stint as a police reporter with The Yakima Herald.

Though Cross begins his term in a period when campus unrest has spilled into athletic departments across the nation, he discounts the prospect of a "hot time" during his tenure.

"It's always a hot time in inter-collegiate athletics," Cross said.

"It's just a question of what it's hot about at any given time. I would say that the general picture is better than in the past, and it is going to get increasingly better."

No qualms assault the new president over a warmly debated N.C.A.A. decree that a college athlete's grant-in-aid could be lifted for "manifest disobedience."

And Cross foresaw no effect on Seattle's professional-football aspirations from a tightened recommendation against the use of college facilities by professional teams.

Establishing cause for revocation of scholarships, Cross said, "was an attempt to balance the protection of an athlete, which is great, with some protection for the institution against the student-athlete who may not measure up to reasonable standards a school expects a public representative to maintain."

The athlete still is protected, Cross said, from "whimsical demands because the process requires action by a committee outside the athletic department."

Cross termed it "conceivable but unlikely" that the policy decision might heighten "patterns of distortion" which prompted the N.C.A.A. action.

Some convention delegates bitterly opposed the action as directed at black athletes or inspired by such factors as coaches' disapproval of unorthodox hair styles.

As N.C.A.A. president, Cross does not appraise the matter as "a major problem, but one which is showing growing pains and will adjust." 1-30-69

"I think most people would agree," he said, "that there have been some abuses of grants-in-aid by student athletes."

The N.C.A.A. restatement of a long-standing policy recommendation against permitting professional teams to use college stadiums and gymnasiums still is "merely a recommendation, not a rule," Cross said.

Groups interested in bringing a major-league professional football team have counted on tacit agreement of Washington's Board of Regents that the Huskies' stadium would be accessible as an interim home until a domed stadium is completed.

A regents' policy statement five years ago ruled out the stadium as a "permanent home" for any professional team. Said Cross:

"The change in the language of the N.C.A.A. recommendation would not change the effect of any policy the regents might have."

Miss Joan Dence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dence and a graduate of the Ritzyville high school with the class of 1930, was a member of the 1934 class to graduate from the Sacred Heart hospital school of nursing Wednesday evening. Commencement exercises for the class were held at the Gonzaga university auditorium, with Bishop White of the Catholic Diocese of Spokane giving the address. Miss Dence's record with her class was one of unusual distinction. Three years ago, when the class was organized, fifty-two aspirants for graduation were registered. Eighteen, Miss Dence among them, survived the exacting curriculum to graduate. Following graduation, Miss Dence will take the examination for state registration.

Elizabeth Gust Funeral Services Held Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Gust were held yesterday from the Philadelphia Congregational Church with the Rev. Ernest Sprenger officiating.

Mrs. Gust died at Hillcrest Manor April 20.

She was born January 30, 1878, in Paris, Russia, and had lived in Adams County 70 years. Her husband, Gottlieb, died in 1944.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ida Thomas of Seattle and Miss Emma Gust of Ritzville; two sons, Emil Gust and Rhinard Gust of Ritzville; four grandchildren, 10 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

Mrs. Gust was a member of Philadelphia Congregational Church and of the church's senior ladies aid.

A quartet of Jake and Carl Hoefel, Dan Roloff and Elmer Heimbiger sang "In the Garden" and "Naeher Dabeim," accompanied by Miss Gail Meyer at the organ.

Pallbearers were George Ball, Melvin Gust, John Haase, William Biermann, Kenneth Gust and Walter Heider. Burial was at Ritzville Memorial Cemetery.

Ex-Resident Dies, Spokane

Funeral services were held last Thursday morning at Shaw and Sons Funeral Home in Yakima for Mrs. Bertha Gust Schwarzwalker, 70, who passed away August 31 in Spokane.

Mrs. Schwarzwalker was born in Koom, south Fussa on December 17, 1887. She came to the United States with her parents when 13 years old. They settled at Warden.

Four years later she was married to Simon Gust. Six children were born to them while farming in the Warden, Lind and Ritzville areas. Two boys and Gust preceded her in death.

In 1940 she moved to Yakima and there married Fred Schwarzwalter. They made their home in Cowiche before returning to Yakima where he passed away in 1952.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Palmer of Spokane and Mrs. Emma Carpenter of Seattle; two sons, Alexander Gust of Washuena and Alfred Gust of Ritzville; one sister, Mrs. Marie Suko of Warden; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Burial and graveside services were held last Thursday afternoon at the Ritzville Memorial cemetery with the Rev. H. C. Haemmelmann officiating.

Brother Funeral Services Set in Ritzville for Alex Gust

Funeral services are scheduled for Alex Gust of Washuena at the Danekas Funeral Chapel Friday at 2 p.m.

Gust was 61. He is survived by his two sisters, Mrs. Emma Carpenter of Seattle and Mrs. Ruth Palmer of Spokane. 915-30

The services will be conducted by Reverend Ernest Sprenger of the Philadelphia Congregational church. Kenneth Gust, a nephew of the deceased, said that the hymn "In the Garden" will be played at the services.

Soloist at the services will be Lester Snyder of Washuena.

Oh, hello Emma! This is Emma Gust. You folks are acquainted are you not? Emma's the typist and an expert, too. She gets "A's" all the time, and if you don't believe me, ask her. That's a good way to get acquainted, isn't it? and by the way, use a pretty color for this block, will you?

The Hoefel Family - 1865-1952

November 21, 1865 - January 22, 1952

The sudden death of Father was a heavy blow to Mother. It left her with the burden of raising and providing for a large family and of harvesting the crop which was ripening. However, with the help of the older children she managed to stay on the farm until the fall of 1916. After an auction sale of her personal property she rented the land to Emil and moved to Ritzville, Washington, where she purchased a house and lived there for the rest of her life.

She was privileged to have most of her children living near enough that she was able to visit them often and to be visited by them. Many pleasant and happy hours were spent in her home by the family and friends. It can be said that in raising such a large family Mother did not have an undue amount of worry over the behavior of the children. They lived and worked in unity and tried to make her life a pleasant one. However, during the depression years beginning in 1931, she worried a lot when she lost most of her land due to crop failures and her income became very limited.

In 1946, Mother had a light stroke from which she partially recovered and some time later she had a heavier stroke which affected her left side and she lost the use of her speech. She was never completely bedfast for any length of time, neither did she suffer much pain during her illness and was able to move about in a wheel chair most of the time. John lived with her and during her illness his presence made life much more pleasant for her and the family will always be grateful for his kindness to her. All the children did what they could to help along so that she was able to remain in her home, especially those who lived near her.

On January 22, 1952, she passed away in her home at the age of 86 years, 2 months and 1 day. During her lifetime she sacrificed much for her family. Let us always remember her as a kind and loving mother.

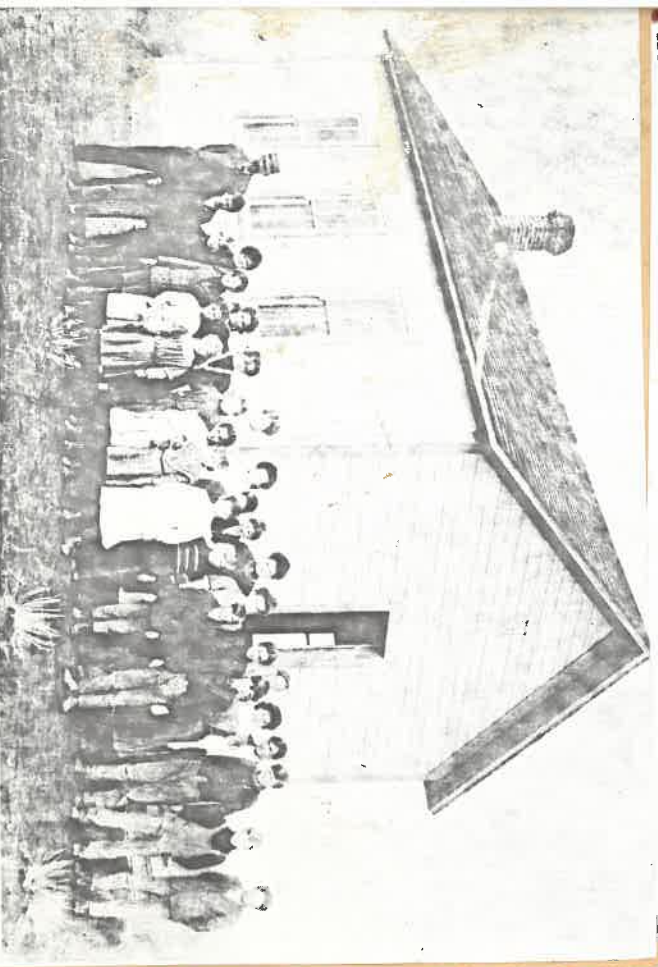

She was a member of the Philadelphia Congregational Church in Ritzville and of its Senior Aid. Beside her twelve children (Fred died in 1945 of a heart attack,) 14 grandchildren and several great-grandchildren, she left one sister, Christine Niederreiter, living in Germany.

ADAMS COUNTY RURAL SCHOOLS

We and the Miller's were very fortunate in having the District 51 schoolhouse so near our homes. It had opened in the fall of 1901 and in January 1902, shortly after our arrival, David, Robert, Fred, Emil and Leontine started to attend this school. It was located a half mile north of our home and two miles from the Millers. Later it was moved to within a fourth mile of our house. All of the Hoefel children except Edna, started school in this building.

No transportation was ever provided for the pupils, no matter how far they lived from the school. Some had to walk several miles across the fields which was especially hard for the younger children during the winter months. Twenty-five years later when most country schools became consolidated with the town schools, comfortable buses picked up the children practically at their doorsteps.

Most all rural schools were built on the same plan. The school room which took care of all the classes was entered from a vestibule where the coats were hung. Here were also kept the lunch pails and the water bucket with its long-handled dipper, and the wash basin with the community towel. In the winter the lunch pails were lined up against the wall behind the stove to keep the food from freezing or to thaw the food which froze on the way to school. The wood and coal heater which was in the main room had a steel jacket around it for heat circulation.

About 40 pupils made up the eight grades which one teacher taught, making from 35 to 40 classes a day. While the teacher was busy with the older students, others helped with the primary grades. The teacher was also the playground supervisor and took part in all the games. The only windows in the schoolhouse were along the north wall and from ex-

1930 — KEEP YOUR SUNNY SIDE UP Key C

Keep your sunny side up, up,
Hide the side that gets blue,
If you have nine sons in a row,
Baseball teams make money you know.
Keep your funny side up, up,
Let your laughter come through, do —
Stand upon your legs, be like two fried eggs.
Keep your sunny side up.

Just a minute please--here are three more blocks for the crazy quilt, and they're dandies too. Now take Edna Hoefel for instance, a quiet sort of girl - with only one bad habit, and that is running up and down the halls when she should be busily applying herself to the utmost of her ability. Oh yes, did you ever hear about Edna's love for moviestars? Quite a coincidence, we don't know whether she is planning to be a second Floria Swanson or not, but we do know that she cuts out all the pictures of movie stars she finds in the papers. She's a good sport, however--gets good grades--you know, just the kind of a girl that makes a good block.

perence the baseball field was on the windowless side. The school yard was roughly a city block in size, fenced in on the corner of a wheat field. A small barn occupied one corner of the rectangle and the "His" and "Her" conveniences were in opposite corners along the back fence. The schoolhouse was usually kept in good repair by volunteer labor by the parents. Many schools had a bell and the most coveted favor was to ring it.

The teachers boarded out among the families of the pupils, usually nearest the schoolhouse. Later, before consolidation took place, some districts built teachers' cottages. The salary paid by District No. 51 in 1901, was $50 a month, and was raised to $120 by 1924. The school year lasted all the way from sixteen to thirty-two weeks. Many teachers were young and inexperienced and at times found it difficult to handle the big boys but they learned fast. Many of the women teachers married local men and became part of the community.

The early 1900's was the transition period for Adams County. The first generation were immigrants and spoke the language of their fatherland and brought the pattern of their living with them. The second generation, their children, adopted the American way of life and almost completely lost contact with their relatives and friends left behind, and the customs of the countries from which their parents had come. Over the years the school was probably the greatest single factor in bringing about this complete assimilation of so many people from so many different parts of the world.

As beginners in a new language, it was embarrassing at times for the older pupils to start at the bottom, learning to spell dog, cat, rat, etc., with the younger children, and when answering roll call to say "absent" when they were present, but we could tell when we were wrong or seeing the teacher smile or the other children laugh.

After school had been in session for some weeks, an evening program was planned to which the parents and neighbors were invited. In preparation for it an eagle with spread wings was drawn on the blackboard and a curtain installed, as it was to be a variety program of singing, reciting and a short "western" skit to end the evening.

Being short of actors, Dave was given a part in this play. He was to say a few words near the end and fire a gun, no mention being made about the size of the gun. When his turn came he said the few words, pulled the trigger and fired the old 45 caliber pistol. In the small room it sounded like a cannon, it rattled all the windows and the stovepipe, the women screamed and the children cried and badly scared all of the audience and nearly wrecked the end of the play. After that his acting career was at an end.

After 1904, more friends and relatives from Basyrjamka and other villages arrived and stayed with our family until such time as they could get settled on their own land. While this made much extra work, especially when some overstayed, our parents considered this a service which they owed to others. Gradually this too came to an end and life became a little easier.

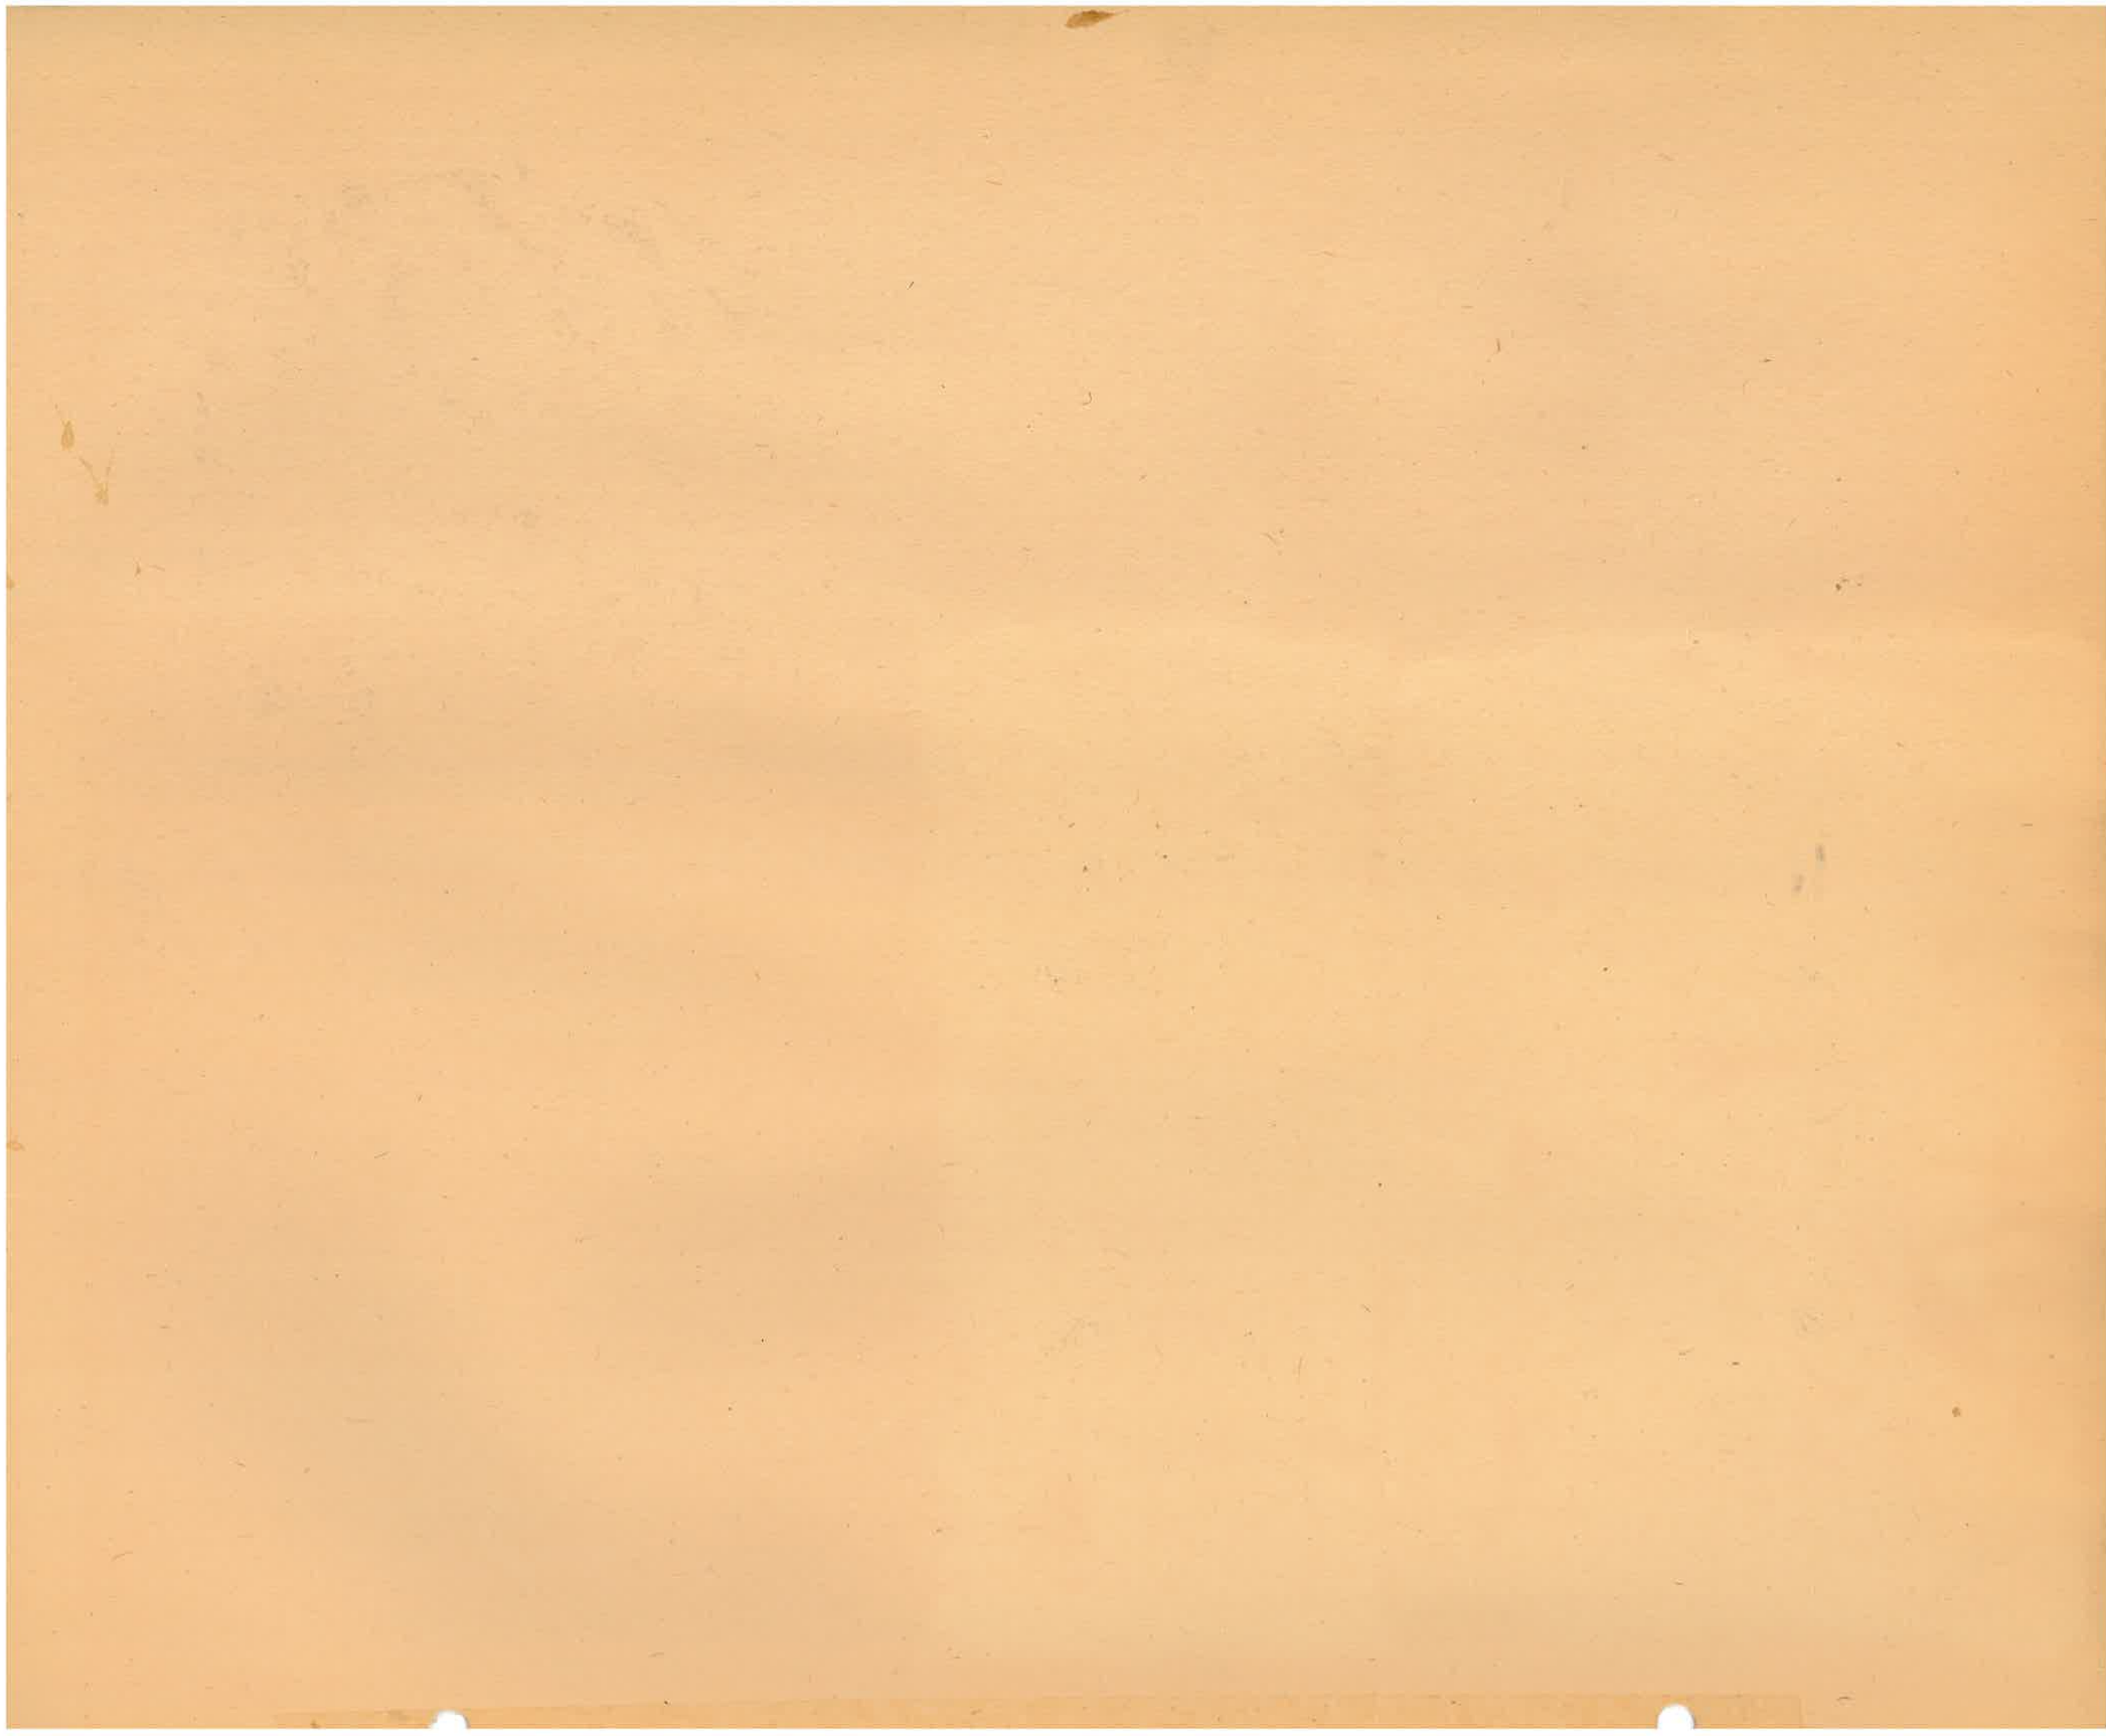

By 1912, steady progress was made on the farm and living conditions improved. As the younger boys became old enough to help with the work, it was decided that the older ones should look for other work. After twelve years of hard work the family was able to enjoy a little leisure.

Being interested in church work and not having traveled any great distance since coming to Washington, Father and Mother decided to attend the General Conference of the German Congregational churches, held in Kulm, North Dakota, in June 1912, also to visit friends and relatives living in the Dakotas. The trip was made by train and after a very enjoyable time they returned to Ritzville on Sunday, June 30, 1912. Upon their arrival Uncle Chris Rieker, husband of Mother's sister Magdalena, came to take them to their home on the farm in a Model T Ford touring car. About 5 miles west of Ritzville, on passing a farmhouse, a dog ran out and in trying to avoid a collision, the car turned over. Father was so badly injured that he never regained consciousness and died July 1, 1912. Mother was slightly injured and Mrs. Rieker had a broken rib.

Father was buried in the Zoar Church cemetery, 15 miles west of Ritzville, and his remains were later moved to the Ritzville Memorial cemetery. He was 48 years, 4 months and 9 days old at the time of his sudden death, which was only 10 years and 6 months after his arrival in the United States. His life was dedicated to the Christian way and his concern was to establish his family in a Christian community, and this he lived to see.

During his short residence in the United States he made many friends, he was always willing to promote good will and gave generously of his time and talents. He was proud to be a citizen of this country. He was a great admirer of Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt and believed in the philosophy of the Republican party.

In his diary Father remarked this about their reason for leaving Russia for the United States: "Before leaving Basyrjamka we had most everything we needed in material things. We are making this change for the love of our children in the hope that a brighter future will be theirs." We have not considered any hardship too great to bring this about. Let us not forget this and never cease to be grateful for his and mother's farsightedness.

Jackpot winners pick up $1.2 million of 'pizzazz'

OLYMPIA (AP) — Two of the co-winners of Washington's richest Lotto jackpot picked up their checks Tuesday and said their windfall already is adding pizzazz and freedom to their lives.

For Lola Stevens, 73, a great-grandmother and retired secretary from Seattle, the annual Lotto checks will mean a more eventful retirement, including some luxury vacations.

For Dennis Waechter, a 31-year-old baker from Richland, the new riches could radically alter his life. He's toying with giving up his job.

The two picked up their first of 20 annual checks of about $49,000. Their pre-tax income over the 20 years is about $1.2 million each.

The third person who is sharing in the record jackpot of $3.6 million still had not checked in with lottery headquarters here.

Disbelief has turned to joy, the two winners told a joint press conference.

"It's hard for me to believe!" cried Stevens, adding with a big smile, "I will enjoy life, probably travel a lot."

She said she's already lining up a trip to the Caribbean next winter, and then there's this summer

... "It has taken a long time for it to sink in," said Waechter.

He said he'll "do a lot" with the money — buy a car, a lawnmower, some land, and a vacation home, and start a college fund for his toddlers.

"It gives me freedom, freedom to choose what we will do," he said. "Money plays a big part in life."

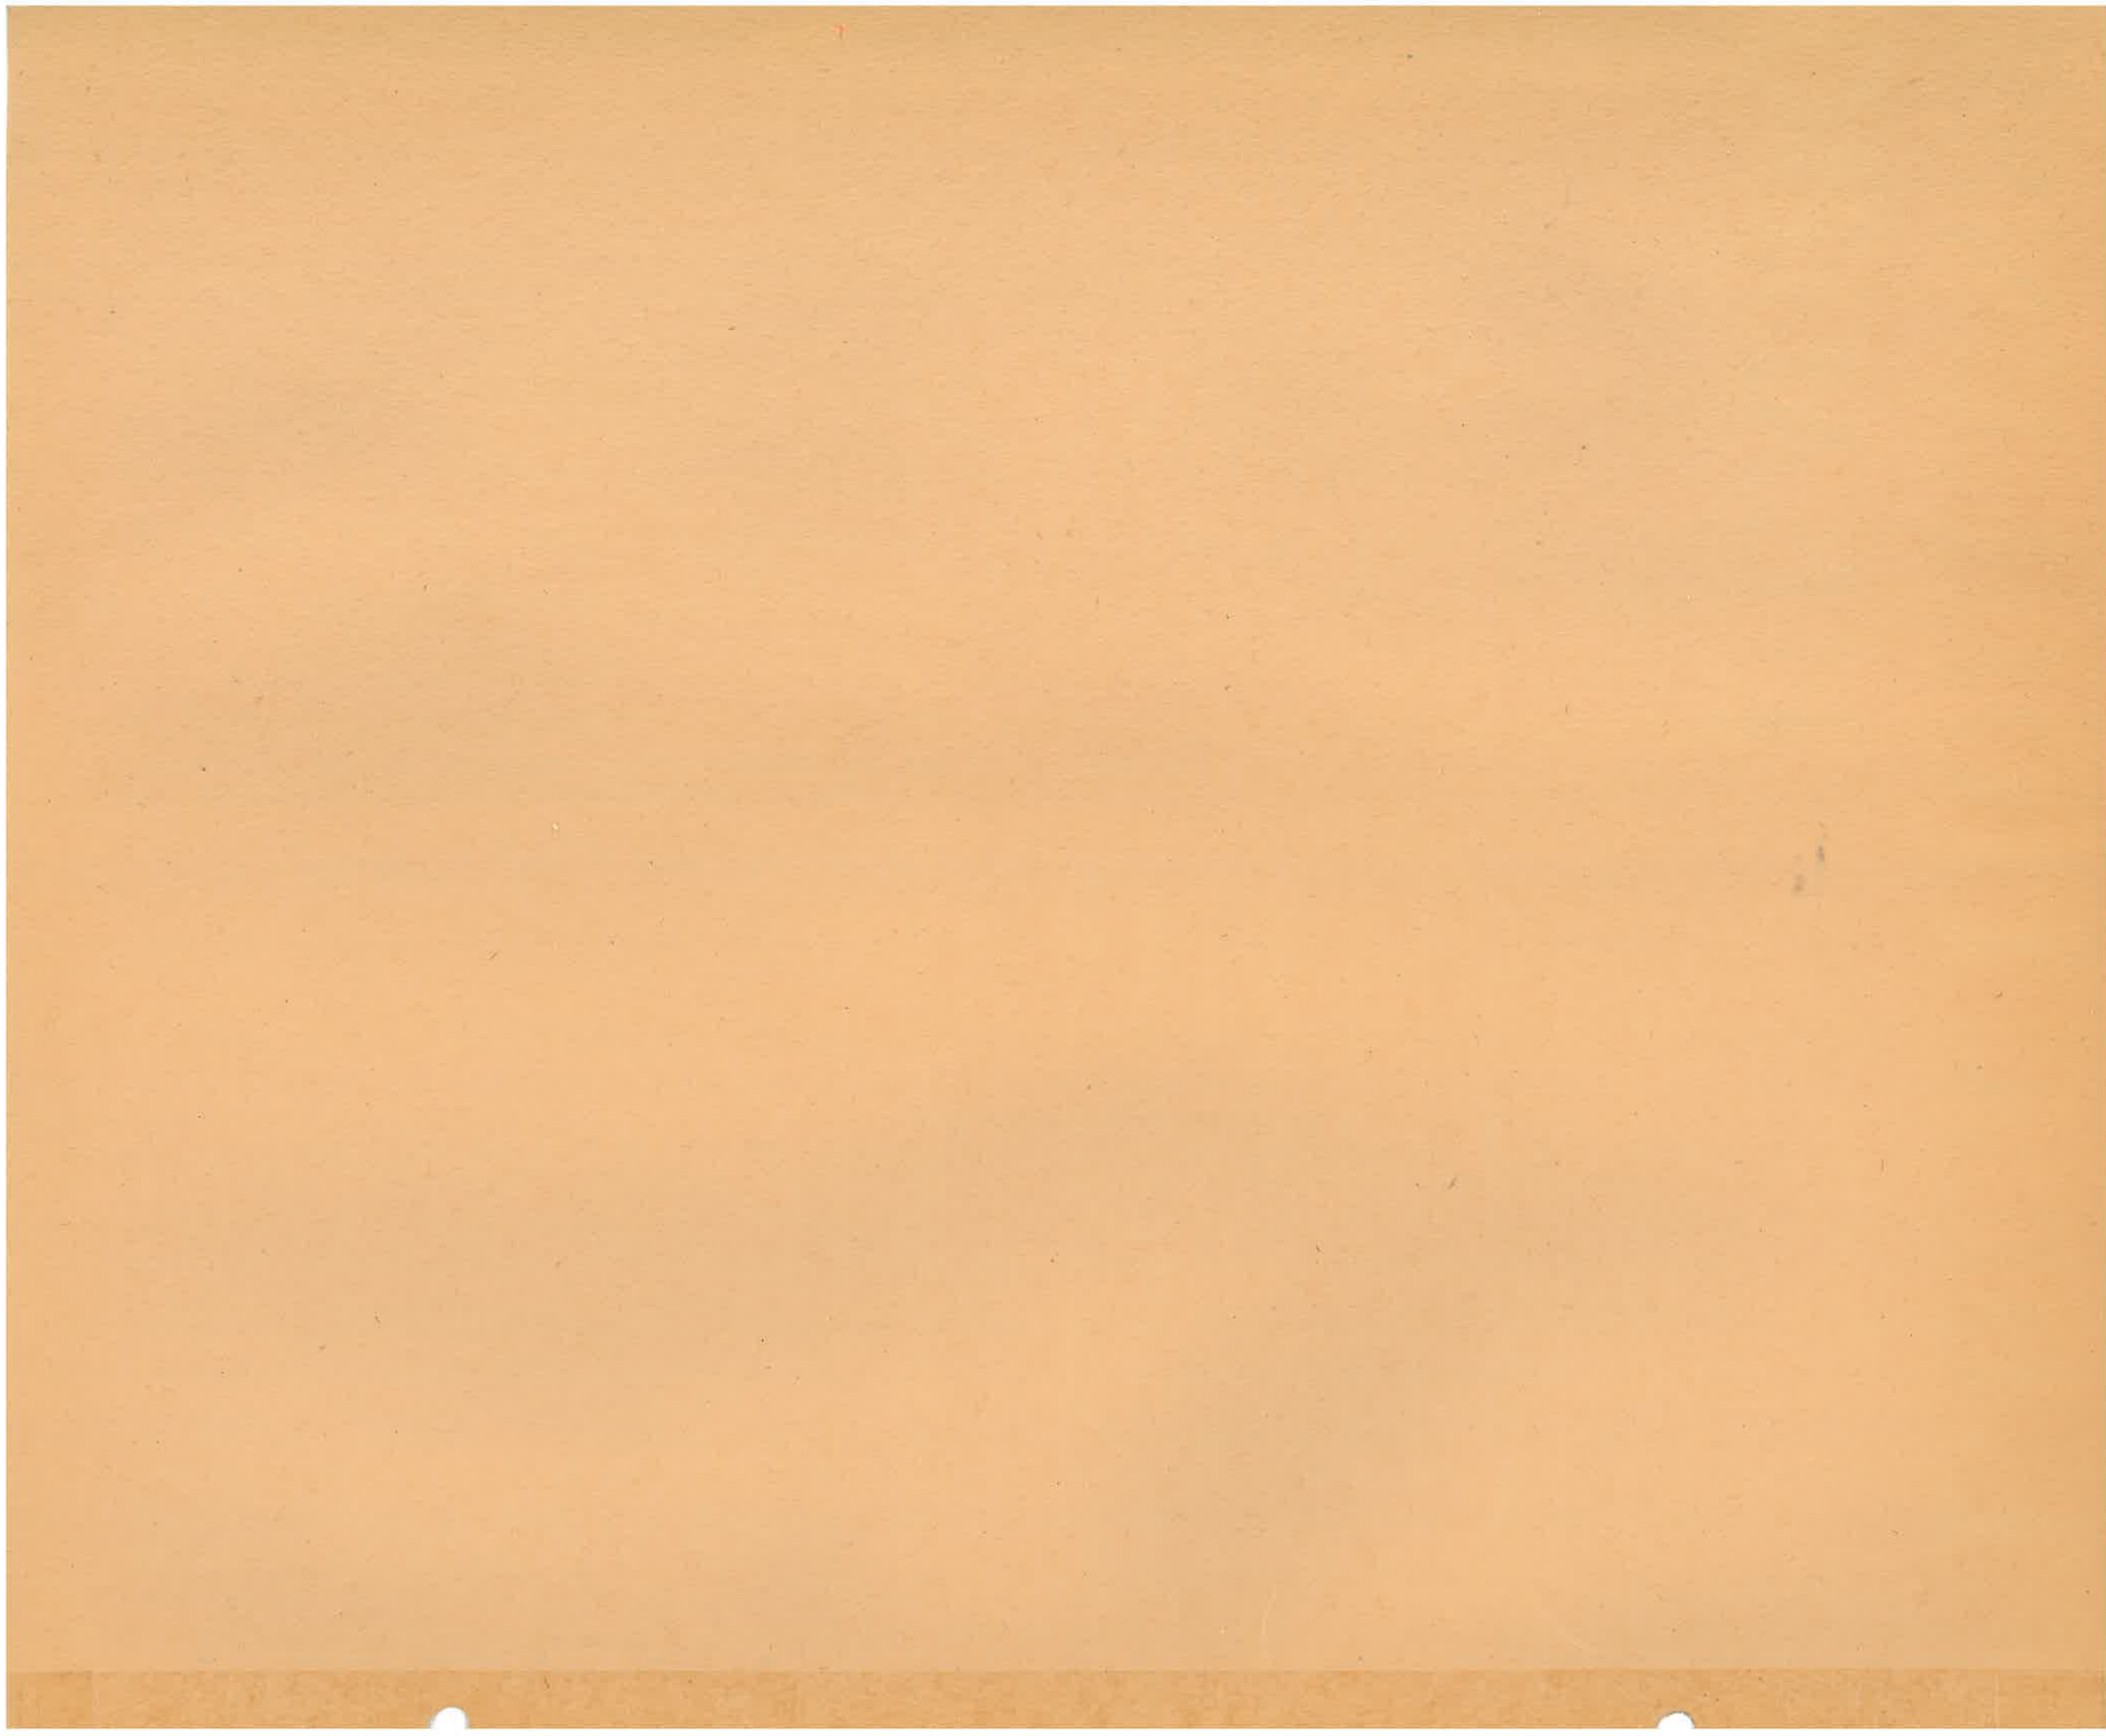

Lottery spokesman Dick Paulson handed Stevens her check for $49,052.58 and turned to Waechter and joshed, "I'm awfully sorry, but yours is for $12,06."

Both winners were accompanied by their families, who cheered them at the end of their press conference. Stevens had her grown son and daughter along. She also has four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Waechter and his wife, Lisa, have an infant son and a young daughter.

Lola Stevens, 73, Seattle, and Dennis Waechter, 31, Richland, flash million-dollar smiles Tuesday as they collect the first installment of a shared $3.6 million Lotto jackpot. The third co-winner has not yet checked in.

He's a very likable sort of person, not to say lovable--just ask a few of the girls around here, particularly one. Art makes a dandy block, but it ought to be red on account of his temper. We have to give him credit though for he is the resident of the Red R club.

Andrew Jantz
Funeral Held
Here Saturday

Funeral services for Andrew Jantz, long-time area resident, were conducted in the Mennonite church on Saturday, February 17 at 1:30 p.m. with Pastor Harris Walmer officiating. Jantz was buried in the Mennonite church cemetery.

He was born on March 3, 1882, the son of Cornelius and Maria Jantz near Marion, S. D. where he spent his youth. ¹⁹²¹⁻¹⁹²⁶
In 1903 he moved with his family to Washington, settling in the Marlin-Ruff community.

In 1907 he was married to Wilhelmina Franz. The couple had two sons and four daughters. They operated a farm in Ruff until 1929 when they moved to another farm near Ritzville. There Mrs. Jantz died in 1935. Jantz left the farm and moved to Ritzville in 1942.

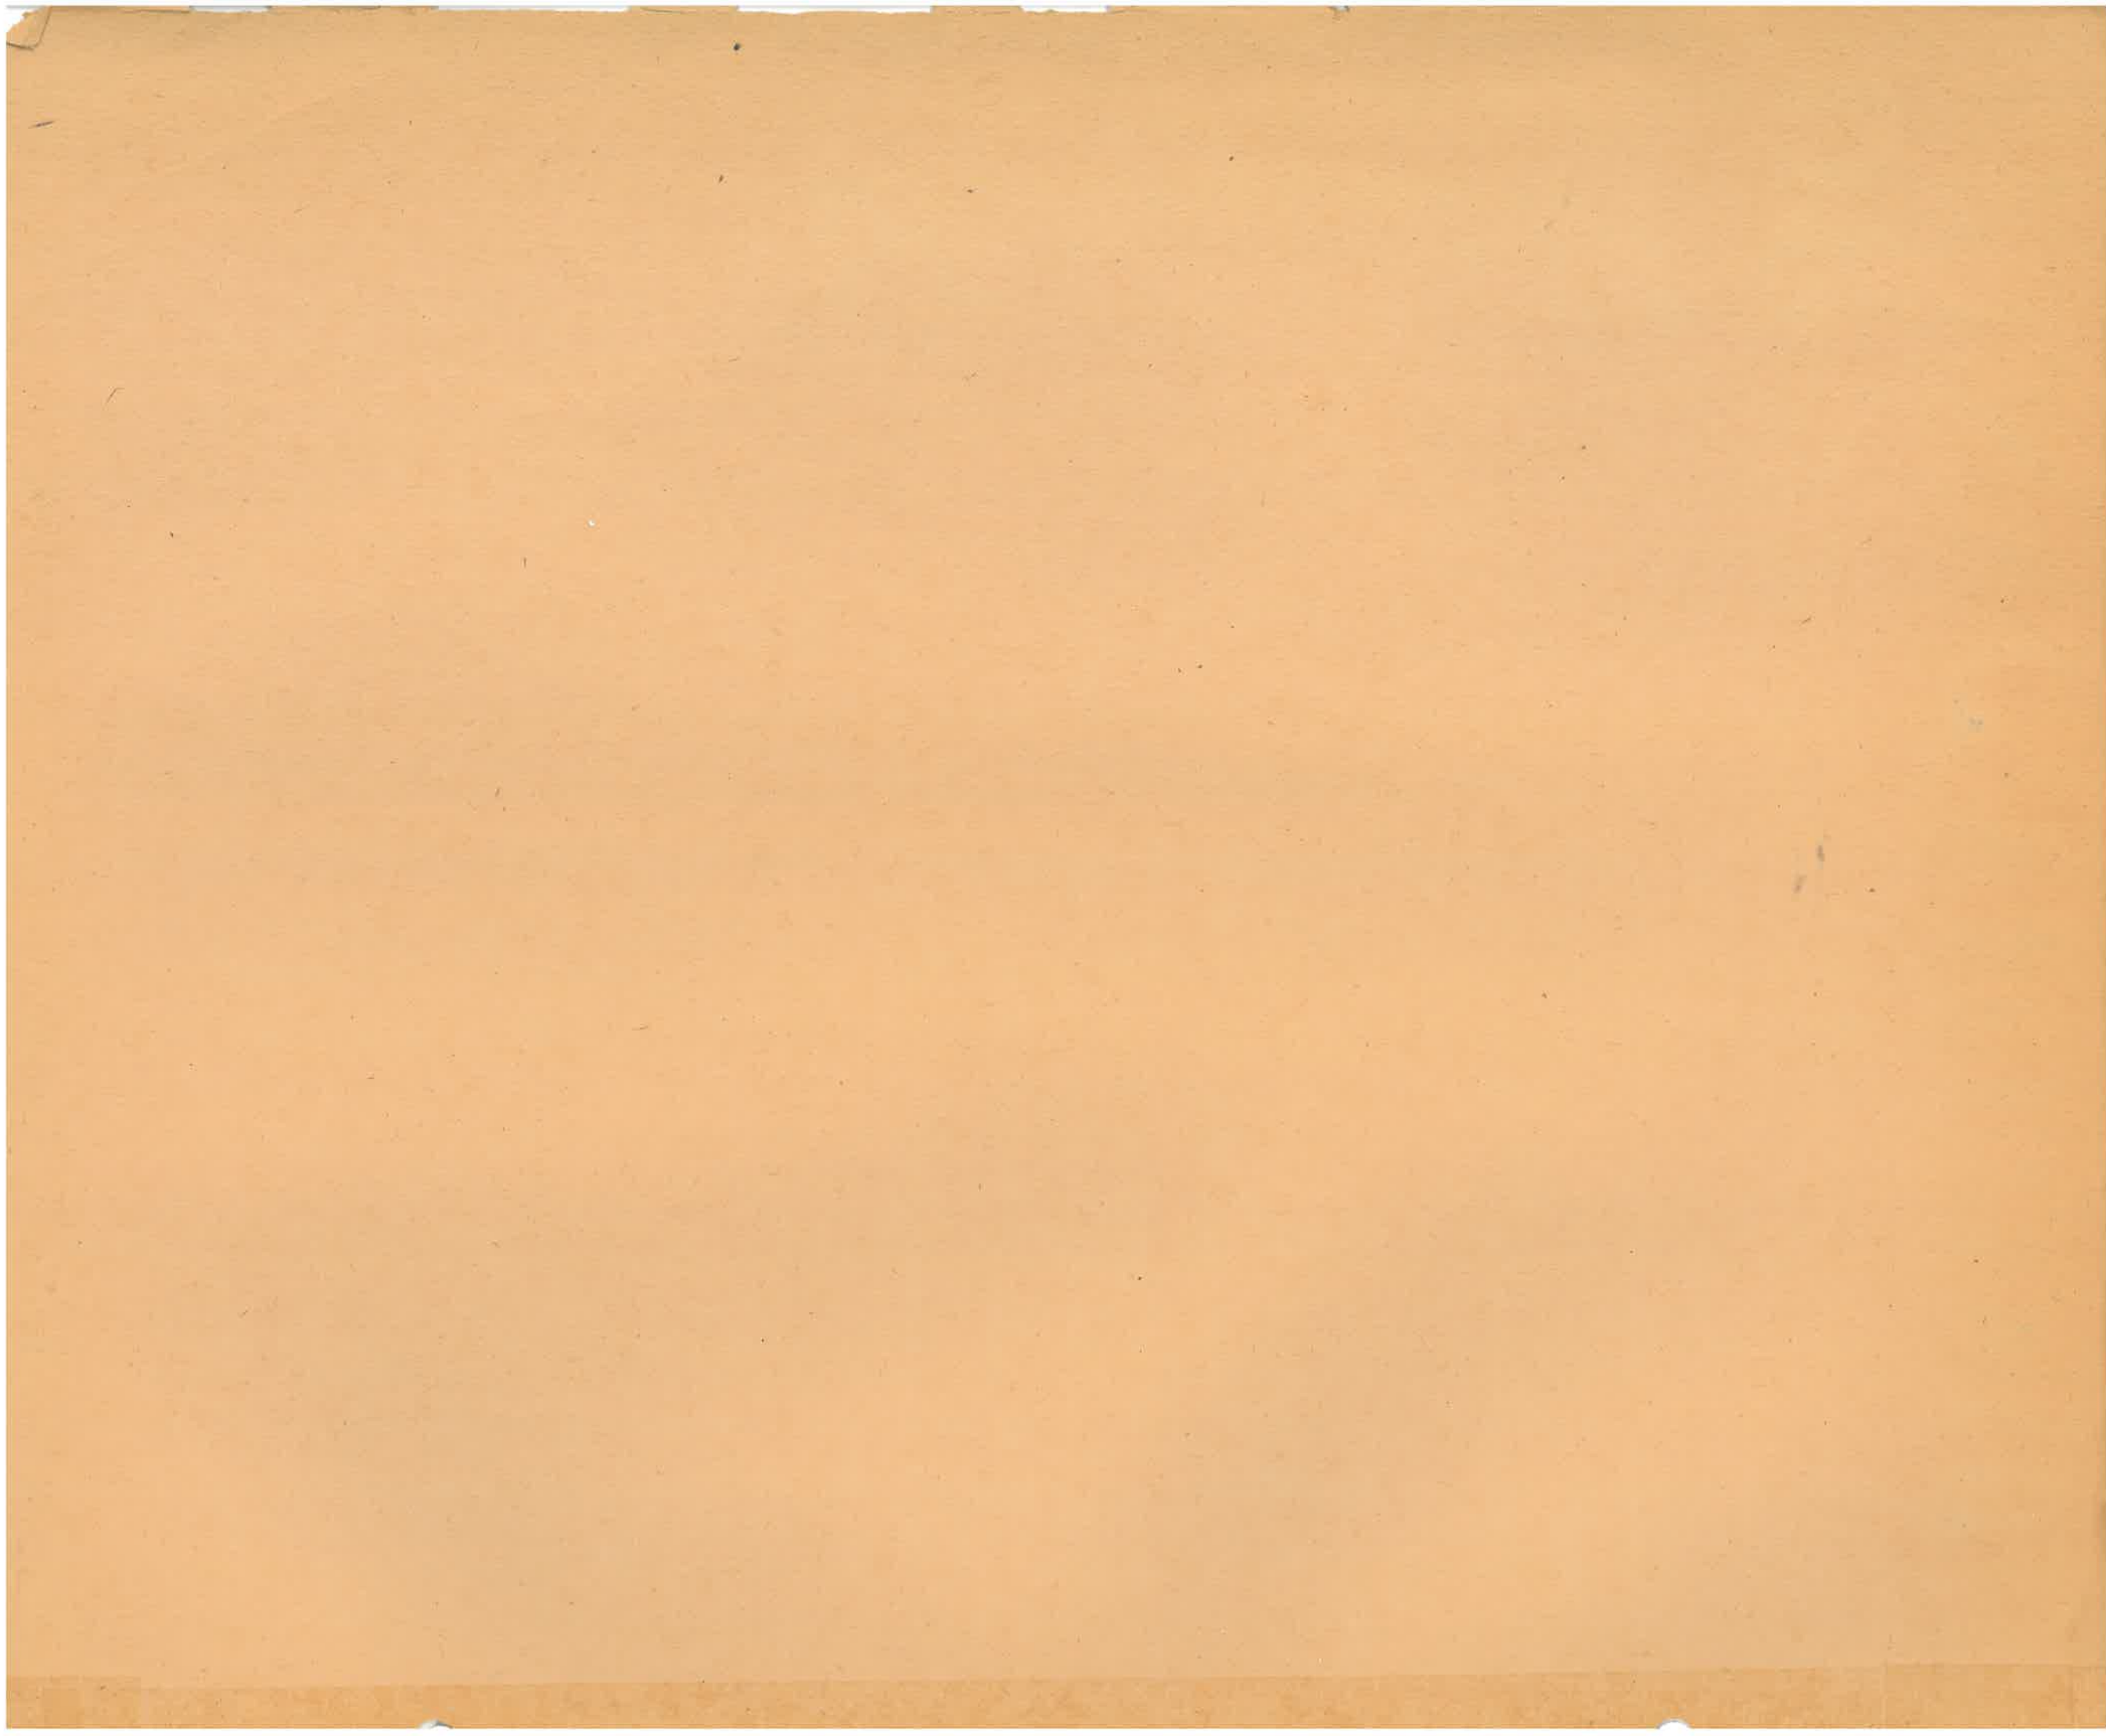

He had been baptized in 1900; and when he moved to Washington had joined the Salem Mennonite church at Ruff. That congregation was later disbanded, and he joined the Menno Mennonite church in 1935 to which he belonged until his death.

In his last years he suffered from Parkinson's disease, and since June of 1965 had resided at

Local Man Is Selected for High State Position

A Ritzville boy makes good — once again. H. Dewayne Kreager, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kreager of this city, and a graduate of local schools, has been named director of the new Washington state department of commerce and economic development.

And with this naming, his parents expect he will be a more frequent visitor in his home town.

It has been 20 years since the younger Kreager has called Ritzville home, although he has considered it as his legal residence for some time.

He was to arrive in Olympia today (Thursday) to confer with state officials. His visit was expected to last about 10 days and probably will not include a visit in Ritzville.

HE EXPECTED to take over his new state duties about October 1.

Kreager now is an associate of John K. Steinhilber in an industrial consultant firm in Washington, D. C.

The local man has held federal jobs under the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, including postwar service as secretary of the national security resources board and executive officer of the office of defense administration.

His pre-war activities in Washington, D. C. were with the agriculture department in organizing the food-stamp plan.

During World War II the 45-year-old man became assistant to the director of the board of economic warfare and for two years represented the foreign economic administration and reconstruction finance corporation in Central America.

IN ANNOUNCING the selection of Kreager, Gov. Albert D. Rosellini said, "Kreager will bring to the state a valuable knowledge of industrial relations and development."

Governor Rosellini had asked the last state legislature to establish a new department to develop new industry and promote tourist travel.

The legislature authorized the department and gave it an appropriation of $1,500,000 for a two year period.

Kreager has lectured to various civic groups in the nation as well as at the industrial college of the armed forces, the army war college, the air force and the graduate school of business of Harvard university.

He is a graduate of Ritzville high school, class of 1930. He was on the school's yearbook staff and was active in many school organizations.

The local man graduated from Washington State college in 1934 and later received an M.A. degree there. He received his doctorate in government and economics from Liatner graduate school in public administration at Harvard.

He is married and has two sons, William Henry and John Philip.

SELECTED. H. Dewayne Kreager.

Above, was selected recently by Governor Albert D. Rosellini to head the new Washington state department of commerce and economic development. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kreager of Ritzville and considers this city his legal residence. He has been associated with federal government departments for about 20 years.

Kreager Talks at WSC Meet

PULLMAN—Dr. H. Dewayne Kreager, a native of Ritzville, discussed economic possibilities as one of the speakers at the second annual WSC community-planning workshop here this week Wednesday and Thursday.

The graduate of Ritzville high school and Washington State college now is director of the state's new department of commerce and economic development.

Kreager addressed the workshop banquet Wednesday evening on "The Challenge of Economic Planning."

Among those attending the workshop was Chuck Voss of Othello, Adams county extension agent.

Kreager received his bachelor and master's degrees from WSC in 1934 and 1935.

H. DEWAYNE KREAGER
CONSULTANT TO INDUSTRY
2007 EXCHANGE BUILDING
SEATTLE 4, WASHINGTON

Mr. Manufacturer: Before you decide on a plant location Be sure to find out what Washington State has to offer.

By H. DEWAYNE KREAGER, Director, Washington State Department of Commerce and Economic Development

THE State of Washington — its business and industry, its communities, and its government — take pride in presenting this industrial supplement to The New York Times family of readers, outlining the Evergreen State's attractions for business growth, for recreation, and for good permanent home living.

We are pleased too that from the far Northwest corner of the Nation should come one of the largest and most comprehensive special sections of this type yet published for a state by The New York Times.

We suggest that business and industry leaders throughout the Nation take note of this manifestation of Washington's serious effort to promote its own economic growth through helping new and existing industry to grow with it. Private industry has joined with public agencies to make this supplement a reality.

When Governor Albert D. Rosellini returned last April from a series of meetings with business leaders in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, he remarked to me that what impressed him most was the lack of information those businessmen had concerning the state of Washington and its economic promise. This supplement is designed as a part of a continuing program to correct that situation, and to establish the following as a truism in the American business community: "Mr. Manufacturer, before you decide on a location for your new or expanded plant in the West, be sure to find out what Washington State has to offer."

Washington Attraction

We suggest the following as a few of the key points an industrialist seeking new Western location should keep in mind concerning Washington:

—Washington is the second largest of the eleven Western States, from the standpoint of population, retail sales, capital investment in industrial facilities, and in the value of industrial output.

—Washington has half of the market for most industrial products in the Pacific Northwest — including Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Alaska. When the populous fringe of Oregon, adjacent to Washington, is included, two-thirds of the market in the entire Northwest can be served quickly and conveniently from your plant in Washington.

The West's largest hotel chain, and a major West Coast regional airline are managed and operated from this state. Washington's brewing industry, which exports 16 times more of its product than is imported from other states, sends 55% of its output to other Western States including Alaska. These are but a few of the many examples of the effectiveness with which your western operations can be centered in and managed from the State of Washington.

Taxes Attractive

—Washington has the lowest impact of taxes per $100 of income of any of the eleven Western states. No income tax, personal or corporate. The 1959 Legislature treated direct taxes on business with more consideration than any other item of taxation, and moved to exempt from taxation many items produced or modified that move in interstate commerce.

39 communities in the state have active planning programs that look toward assisting industry in the location of new plants. 24 port districts stand ready to serve you with a variety of industrial sites and services. Every major community in the state has a local industrial development council that can bring public support to your service in matters affecting the location, financing and servicing of your new plant.

—Washington has many superior industrial power rates of any state in the Nation; the largest supply of pure cold industrial water; rivers of natural gas flowing across the state from the great gas fields of Canada to serve West Coast markets; one of North America's great inland waterways—the Columbia River, soon to be navigable 300 miles from its mouth.

—Washington's labor force, varied, skilled and permanent, is 15% more productive on the average than for the nation as a whole, says the U. S. Department of Commerce. In some skills, particularly manufacturing skills, this productivity of Washington labor is up to 60% higher than that available elsewhere.

Markets Growing

—Washington's markets are not only growing more rapidly than the national average, but its market growth is permanent. The state's rate of population increase is 10% higher than for the Nation, yet its rate of growth on retail sales is 15% faster than its population growth. This means, for the manufacturer and distributor of consumer goods, that Washington's higher per capita income, and higher standard of living, spell big new markets each year. A further insurance on this market lies in the fact that 43% of Washington's population is among children and young people 5 to 17 years of age. Only 31% of national population falls in this group. Since Washington is a state that keeps its young people after they become adults, this underwrites the permanency of Washington's growing consumer markets.

—Most important, Mr. Manufacturer, is the GREAT PLUS FACTOR that Washington State has as a place to live, for you, for your employees. The operating head of a major international rubber industry firm recently wrote me as follows: "My company operates all over the world. Two years ago we located a new plant in one of the smaller cities of your state. Nowhere do we enjoy better community relations or more satisfactory living conditions for our personnel than in Washington." When I asked why his company happened to locate in the particular town in question, when, obviously many other communities in the West could offer the same location attractions, he said: "Mr. Kreager, my company went to this particular city in your state because that city WANTED my company."

—Yes, Washington State wants industry, and serves industry well. Again, Mr. Manufacturer, before you decide on a location for your new or expanded plant in the West, be sure to find out what Washington State has to offer.

Redwood Park Backers Blasted

By Scott Thurber

Leaders of the Sierra Club were attacked yesterday as "extremists" who back "irrational and intemperate" proposals for a National Park in the redwoods.

The characterization came from Don Cave, Eureka stockbroker and chairman of the Redwood Park and Recreation Committee—a lumber industry-financed group fighting plans for a big redwood park in Humboldt and Del Norte counties.

"The organization contends that the park proposals now before Congress—ranging from 45,000 to 90,000—would cripple the timber industry and destroy the economy of the redwood region.

The anti-park committee called a press conference yesterday to present an economic consultant's report on the proposed park's economic impact, and Cave led it off by declaring:

"It seems to me at this time in our country . . . extremism in politics, education and conservation is a prevalent thing.

"We are fighting for our economic survival," he said, against a "principal opponent" with an annual budget of $1.5 million.

He later made it clear that the big-budget opponent is the Sierra Club—and that the "extremist" label was intended for the club's "hierarchy."

He said such people are the kind who have been complaining about the smoke and smell of the area's new pulp mills—"before they were set this economic loss—which he said could go at least as high as $8 million in annual payroll loss and $6.8 million in annual tax loss.

DON CAVE

An "economic fight for survival"

He contended that redwood park simply would not and could not attract enough money-spending visitors to "take up the slack."

H. D. KREAGER

Stopping at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kreager, on his way from Olympia on a business trip last week was H. Dewayne Kreager of Washington, D. C.

Present with Cave at the press conference was H. Dewayne Kreager, a consulting industrial economist from Seattle who had prepared a detailed study of the park proposals for Cave's committee and its sponsors—the five timber firms who dominate the redwood economy of Humboldt and Del Norte counties.

Kreager said he doesn't oppose a park as such and feels one will be developed—perhaps along the lines of a redwood industry proposal for 800 acres of additions to existing state parks, plus more than 200,000 acres kept in private ownership but opened to the public.

There is "no economic justification" for the big parks proposed in Congress, Kreager contended, because they will

- Throw people out of work in both counties, and reduce tax valuations.
- Provide nothing to offset the economic loss.

CC Annual Banquet Slated Saturday Night

The 34th annual banquet of the Ritzville chamber of commerce will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, January 11, in the American Legion Memorial hall.

Principal speaker for the function will be H. Dewayne Kreager, director of the new state department of commerce and economic development.

W. H. Kreager of Ritzville.

Other highlights of the evening will be installation of new chamber officers, musical selections, introduction of Miss Ritzville and the presentation of a gavel to the retiring president.

Donald D. Danakas as toastmaster will introduce the program which will open with the flag salute, followed by the invocation by the Rev. Herbert Heemelmann, pastor of the Philadelphia Congregational church.

MISS DENA Marie Freese who is "Miss Ritzville," and visitors will be introduced next.

Vocal selections by Milton P. Sackmann, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Allert, and numbers by a cornet trio will follow. The trio will consist of Graham Cross, Michael Howell and Leland Heimbiener.

The talk by Kreager will precede presentation of a gavel to the retiring president, Orville E. Hull by Leonard F. Jansen, 1956 president of the local chamber.

Hull will introduce the incoming president, Ray Rummer, who in turn will present the new officers of the group.

RUMMER will be 1958 president, John U. Pavlik, vice president, and Mrs. Tom Underwood, secretary-treasurer.

The 1958 directors will be G. E. Bentz, Albert R. Hanson, Hull, Mrs. Lillian Miller, Rummer, L. J. Valenta, Art Werth, Pavlik and Mrs. Underwood.

H. DEWAYNE KREAGER

Jansen has been chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet, assisted by Mrs. Miller and Leslie L. Strickland.

Swiss steak, whipped potatoes, mixed vegetables, crab cocktail, tossed green salad, rolls, buttered cherry cobbler with whipped potatoes and coffee will be featured on the menu.

Legion Women to Sponsor Two to Girls' State

The American Legion auxiliary will send two girls to Girls' State this year, one from Wash-tucna high school and one from Ritzville high school.

A check of $25 was presented to the auxiliary by the Past President's club for help in sending the two girls. A bake sale will furnish the balance of the funds needed.

Mrs. Theo. Miller, child welfare chairman, reported that two bags of used clothing had been donated toward "Save a Child Federation" and any used clothing would be accepted toward this project.

Mrs. Ralph Koehn, rehabilitation chairman, reported that four corduroy bed jackets had been sent to the Veteran's hospital in Spokane and two to the Veteran's hospital in Walla Walla. Discarded nylons are accepted for therapy work for the men at the veteran's hospitals.

After the meeting, a joint meeting was held with the American Legion. Rev. Robert Burkhart gave an address on "Back to God." Slides were also shown on Glacier national park.

Rites Today for A. Miller

Funeral services will be held for Alex A. Miller at 2 p.m. today (Thursday) at Emmanuel Lutheran church. The Rev. Albert Wagner will officiate. Interment will follow at the Lutheran cemetery.

Miller died in a Spokane nursing home at the age of 73 years. He had been living in Spokane for the last three years with his sister and had been in the nursing home for three weeks.

Miller was born in Kols, Russia, December 14, 1885, and had lived in Ritzville and the United States for 70 years.

His wife, Molly, died August 16, 1951.

Miller is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Rose Myers of Pasco; a son, Ted Miller of Ritzville; a sister, Mrs. Fred Vevca of Opportunity; two brothers, George

"MY FAVORITE RECIPE"

STRUDLES 3/1/57

By MRS. E. C. PFLUGRATH

This week's recipe was provided by Mrs. E. C. Pflugrath, who with her husband celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last November.

The Pflugrath's came to the State of Washington from South Dakota and met in LaCrosse where they were married at the home of Mrs. Pflugrath's aunt, Mrs. Kathie Vogler and the late Reverend Vogler.

They have made their home in Ritzville for over 50 years and are the parents of four children, Mrs. John (Emelia) Fode of Lind, Mrs. E. (Anna) Sillette of Vancouver, B. C., Mrs. Walter (Rose) Vaughn of Pendleton, Ore., and Albert of Ritzville.

This recipe for Strudles has been in the family for years and they are easy to make.

The Pflugraths are members of the Philadelphia Congregational church and for her hobbies Mrs. Pflugrath enjoys cooking, knitting and crocheting.

2 eggs
2 cups of flour
2 teaspoon of sugar
Pinch of salt
Water to make a soft dough
Mix all ingredients and knead about 10 minutes. Roll thin, spread with warmed lard or shortening. Leave for a few minutes. Stretch the sheet of dough until thin as tissue.

Roll as a jelly roll, cut into three or four inch pieces. Put two tablespoons of lard and one half of water in a heavy skillet or kettle. Drop strudles into boiling water and cover tightly.

Let it cook about ten minutes until water is evaporated and strudles are well browned.

About 150 spectators watched the seasaw final three holes of the state junior golf tournament here Sunday.

The winner of the tournament was Steve Stull of Richland who came in with a 36 hole total of 144. Second place was taken by Gary Sater from Vancouver who had a final score of 146.

Unpredictable winds Sunday prevented all 65 boys taking part in the tournament from getting a par 70 for the final 18 holes. Going into the second 18 Stull was one stroke off the pace. However, by the time he and Sater were paired off in the final nine holes the scores were getting pretty close.

Stull chipped in from the edge of the greens five times in the last nine holes. When the two players came to the 16th hole, they were tied as they teed off.

Stull chipped in for a birdie which put him one stroke ahead of Sater who parred the hole. Then the tables were turned on the 17th as Sater birdied the hole and Stull parred it.

That put them even going into the 15th and final hole. Sater drove his ball 300 yards or better into the left rough. Stull hit his about 280 yards into the right rough.

Stull was playing it safe and trying for par while Sater took a chance on a club with a big loft in an attempt to get a birdie and win the match. Sater's high second shot was caught by the wind and carried out of bounds which cost him a two stroke penalty. He lost to Stull by those two strokes.

Sater told one of the officials afterwards that he was anxious to wind up the match because he wanted to get back to Vancouver where he had another match coming up Monday.

He said he thought he had two choices on the second shot on the final hole. Either he could play it safe and try for par and thus perhaps go into a sudden death play off, or he could take a chance by trying for a birdie. Since he was anxious to get home he chose the latter.

The winner of the match, Stull, has won the Washington State Amateur for the last two years. The two other winners in the contest were Monty Tweten and Denny Colvin of Yakima. Tweten had a 149 and Colvin had a 151. All four winners in the tournament will be going to the national junior golf tournament at Tulsa, Okla. They leave Seattle on August 17.

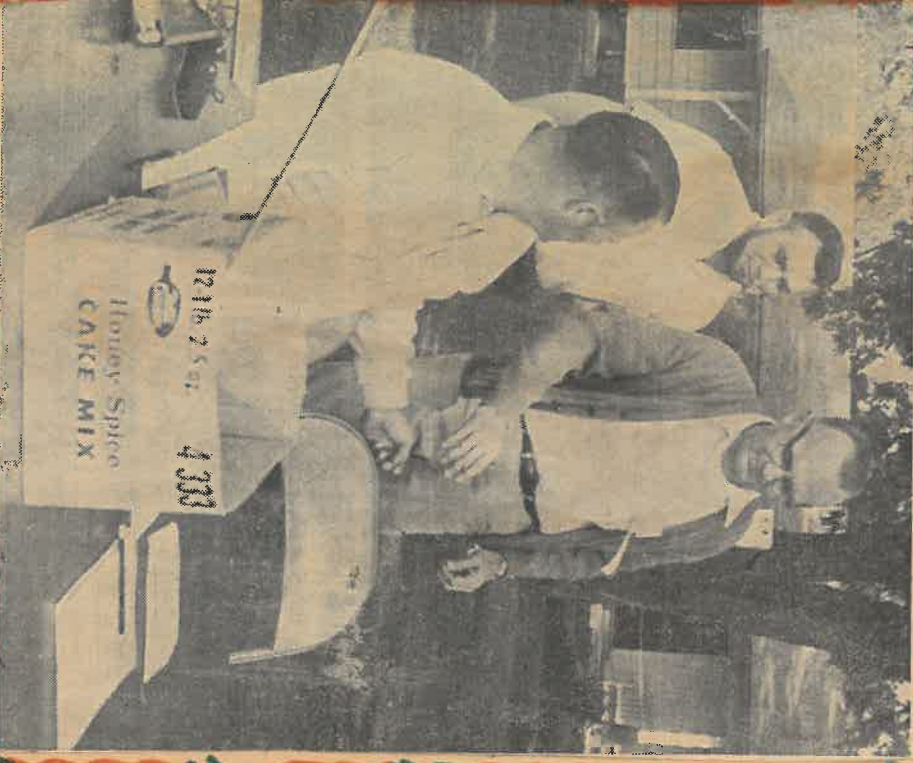

Accompanying them will be the state director of junior golf O. A. (Spike) Fitch of Ritzville who supervised the state tournament here. Fitch said that Tulsa is just about 200 miles from his home town where his wife had never been. She will be going.

Other officials who assisted with the tournament were Jack Fischer who was co-chairman with Fitch of the tournament. The field referees were Tony Eichner, Fred Slipper, Gary Galbreath, Jim Schoesler.

Other field referees all of whom were called upon, in Fitch's words, to make a lot of decisions on rules were Jim Snider, Lee Burroughs, Dr. Bill Brock and Rudy Rogel.

The head judge couldn't make it: Dr. Bruce Hille's wife was having a baby.

The Ritzville Jaycees hosted the contest and assisted in readying the course.

Three Helpers

Three men who put in time on the junior golf tournament here Saturday and Sunday were, from left, Spike Fitch, Dick Miller and Jack Fitcher. Miller is president of the Ritzville Jaycees who hosted the event. Several other Jaycee members got up early Saturday morning to work on the course prior to the first tee offs at 7 a.m.

WILMA THOM DEATH SHOCK TO FRIENDS

POPULAR GIRL DIES UNEXPECTEDLY AFTER OPERATION.

Received Diploma With 1934 Class at St. Luke's Hospital—Demise Caused by Blood Clot.

The community was saddened this week on receipt of the news that Miss Wilma Thoma, 22, popular Ritzville girl, had passed away at the St. Luke's hospital in Spokane where she had just completed a training course as nurse, receiving her diploma with the 1934 class. At the time of her death she had but two weeks of her three years of training to be completed. She then intended coming home for a ten day visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thom, before entering active duty at the hospital.

Taken ill on Wednesday of last week, a major operation was performed Saturday morning and there was nothing in the nature of the ailment to indicate she would not speedily recover. Her parents were in Spokane at the time, but had returned home following the operation, as the condition of Miss Wilma was highly satisfactory at that time. However, fat embolism, or blood clot, developed and she sank rapidly. A blood transfusion was given, without avail and Miss Wilma passed away about 9:00 o'clock that evening. Her family was at the bedside.

The body was brought to Ritzville and the funeral was held from the Zion Congregational church Tuesday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends, among the latter being twenty-four nurses from the hospital, where Miss Wilma was a favorite with all. The floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. The service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. J. Morach, assisted by the Rev. T. A. Daughters of the Episcopal church. Interment was in the Ritzville cemetery.

Wilma Alvina Thom was born in Ritzville March 29, 1912. She attended the grade and high school, graduating with the class of 1930. She spent a year at Washington State college and then enrolled at the St. Luke's school of nursing.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by three sisters, Mary, Florence and Dorothy and one brother, Raymond.

Wilma Thom.

THOM, Wilma—Passed away Sept. 22 at a local hospital. Age 22 years. Her home was at Ritzville, Wash. Survived by her mother, Mrs. Henry Thom of Ritzville; 3 sisters, Mrs. Henry Kimball, Florence and Dorothy; Thom and 1 brother, Raymond, all of Ritzville. The deceased will be sent to Ritzville Mon., Sept. 24, for funeral and returned by the SMITH FUNERAL HOME.

ILL FOUR DAYS, MISS THOM DIES

St. Luke's Student Would Have Ended Three-Year Course in Two Weeks.

Death Saturday night claimed Miss Wilma Thom, 22, member of this year's class to be graduated from the St. Luke's school of nursing, when but two weeks of her three years in training was left to be completed. Her home was at Ritzville. Her passing is attributed to a fat embolism following an operation. Taken ill Wednesday, a major operation was performed and her recovery was hoped for.

Active in student body affairs, she was popular with her classmates and liked by all. She took her diploma with the 1934 class, when commencement exercises were held in the spring. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thom of Ritzville, she had her education in the Ritzville schools, graduating from the high school there in 1930. Subsequently she had a year at Washington State college.

The body is at the Smith funeral home, and will be taken to Ritzville today. Funeral services will be held from the Congregational church there Tuesday at 1:30.

Miss M. Grace Watson, superintendent of nurses, spoke in fine appreciation of the young girl's record in training. "She was liked by every one here," she said. Members of the staff and as many of her classmates as can be spared from the floor will go to Ritzville for the services.

Grange Hall Jammed —

608 Attend Largest RHS Alumni Party

The largest crowd ever to gather in Ritzville, more than 600 persons, jammed Marcellus Grange hall Saturday evening as the high school alumni association conducted its 50th anniversary reunion.

Principal guests of honor were six survivors from Ritzville's first 4-year graduating class of 1905. The 25-year-ago class of 1930 and this spring's seniors also were honored.

The Grange hall was packed as 575 alumni and their husbands and wives, the largest dinner gathering in Ritzville's history, were served by men and women of Marcellus Grange who operated with such efficiency that all the guests had been given their dinners within 20 minutes after serving started.

Another 33 alumni and mates, members of the Class of 1950, ate dinner at the Whistlin Pig grill and joined the crowd at the Grange hall for the program.

THE CROWD was in a tremendously enthusiastic mood.

To give you an idea, the first announcement made by state supreme court justice Richard B. Ott of Olympia, who served as toastmaster, was a request that because of the crowded conditions after-dinner smoking be reduced to a minimum.

Even such a routine announcement as this was greeted by a tremendous round of applause.

Saturday's alumni crowd was ready to cheer, applaud, or laugh at the drop of a hat, and six steaming hours later they were still so full of vigour that a hat was passed to collect $18 so the alumni dance orchestra would play for an additional hour, from 1 to 2 p.m.

ALL OF Ritzville's 50 graduating classes except two were represented at the banquet.

Nearly 130 alumni — to say nothing of their wives and husbands — came from out-of-town to join graduates who had remained at home.

Two traveled here from the east coast — Miss Alice Lewis (1911) of New York city, Mrs. L. D. Emerson's sister, and Lt. John Schroeder (1950) stationed with the Marines in North Carolina.

Except for this year's class, the honored Class of 1930 produced the largest delegation with 15 members coming from out-of-town to join local residents.

The alumni banquet was preceded and followed by dozens of individual class reunions and private parties.

SIX MEMBERS of the 13 who were graduated at Ritzville's first commencement exercises in 1905 attended the banquet.

Two were Ritzville residents, Harriet Lewis Emerson and W. G. Danekas.

Also attending were John E. L. Olson, Edna French Reedy, Flora Ethel Loutzenhiser, of Spokane, and Earle E. Barrett of Centralia.

Each of the 1905 graduates spoke briefly during the program, recalling the "good old days" when several of them rode horseback to school.

BERT PIERCE of Spokane served as spokesman for the large 1930 delegation while Lawrence Kramer, president of the Class of '55, expressed the appreciation of his classmates in what others attending the banquet agreed was a remarkably fine oration for a high school student.

Danekas introduced members of the current graduating class. Danekas is the first grandchild of a Ritzville graduate (W. G. Danekas) to receive his diploma at Ritzville.

His father, Don Danekas, also is a Ritzville graduate (Class of '29).

A HIGHLIGHT of the entertainment was provided by a trio composed of Irma Ruth Allert, Celia Ann Streeter and Norma Schoessler accompanied by Mrs. J. P. Danekas.

They wore modern clothing to salute the Class of '55 with "Mr. Sandman, Bring Me a Dream," early-30's party dresses to sing "Jeannine, I Dream of Liliac Time" for the Class of '30, and gay 90's styles to sing "After the Ball" for the Class of '05.

Danekas played a trumpet solo, accompanied by Ron Heimburger, and Justice Ott called the roll of all the classes. Don Danekas, president of the association, welcomed the guests after Edward G. Cross had delivered the invocation.

During a business meeting Nance Bauer was elected new president of the alumni association and Rich Kembel vice president.

Vic Rogel was re-elected secretary and Ralph Danekas treasurer. Rogel's brother, Ed Rogel of Ellensburg, was chosen master of ceremonies for next year's alumni banquet.

Ed Rogel is an administrative assistant to the president of Central Washington college.

DURING THE banquet it was disclosed that seven of this year's graduates besides Danekas have one or more parents who are also Ritzville graduates.

They are Jean Oestreich (father, Roy Oestreich, Class of 1922), Janice Schroeder (mother, Dora Arlt Schroeder, 1926), Dona Evans (father, John Evans, 1933), Jess Harris (mother, Sophronia Meyer Harris, 1926), Harmon Schell (mother, Charlotte Wyrick Schell, 1924), Don Snelman (mother, Mary Hille Shelman, 1931), and Leonard Webb (step-father, Dan Scharer, 1927).

Gary Danekas' mother, Johannah Reiber Danekas, was a member of the class of 1929. Mrs. _____, president of the _____ ALUMNI BANQUET. Marcellus Grange hall was jammed Saturday evening with the largest banquet crowd in Ritzville's history. Exactly 575 alumni and their husbands and wives ate dinner there as the high school alumni association conducted its 50th annual reunion. The Classes of 1905, 1950 and 1955 were honored. State supreme court justice Richard B. Ott served as toastmaster.

RITZVILLE HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION HISTORY & LIBRARY.

This LIBRARY consists of 75 books with loose-leaf sheets and according to circumstances, can be added, deleted, or altered. RITZVILLE HIGH SCHOOL graduated it's first CLASS in the year of 1905 with 13 students. There is a book for each CLASS beginning with 1905 up to and including 1980. In 1950 the school celebrated it's 50th ANNIVERSARY with a banquet at the Marcelus Grange Hall with over 500 in attendance. Our DIAMOND Jubilee will be in May of 1980 when we will celebrate our 75th year. I have no intention of carrying this history beyond that date.

Each book is 12" x 14" in size and the sheets are reinforced with scotch tape. Each SHEET contains the following information: NAME of each GRADUATE, (full name if possible), address, signature, birthday, names of husband or wife and children, their parents and dates, relatives who graduated or attended RHS, school and college records, marriage, family, activities, death data, trade or profession and where live and work, and any other data or information which can be gathered from newspapers, magazines, letters, interviews or from any other source possible.

I have endeavored to arrange the material in a neat and orderly fashion and the names alphabetically and chronologically when possible. I realize many mistakes have been made in placing correct data in the proper place but so many of the names are duplicated. Mr. Vic Rozel helped me immensely in the identification of families also Mrs. Mabel Burrill and Mrs. Robert Clark. (Miller) and many others too too numerous to mention. Of the faculty Mr. Lloyd was wonderful in his assistance. (Oberst

I started this record in the month of May, the 25th of May, 1905 when I was present at the first graduation at the Old Congregational Church and obtained the signatures of the graduates on onion skin paper and you will notice that when they signed 50 years later the writing was very similar. I then DEDICATED the books to our first SUPERINTENDANT, PROFESSOR. JOHN HENRY PERKINS, who started the RHS

This project has been quite expensive in that I have taken the Journal-Times (2 copies) for many years for information. Also subscribed for the Harvester and purchased 5 or 6 copies each year of the Annual, the Kernel. While visiting the banquet each year hundreds of pictures were taken and I hope placed in the proper place. To do this it took every minute of my spare time of work but I didn't mind any of these things as I enjoyed it so much and I have always been under the impression that it was worth while. That I shall never know for sure. It is my hope that the library will come to rest in the addition that Vic promoted onto the high school building and there they will repose and be available to future generations. If anyone thinks it is necessary to continue the records say on to the year 2000 or more maybe some individual who in his or her dotage has a weakness for cutting out paper dollies, saving clippings from the papers, on and pasting in pretty picture books will carry on. There must be someone in the around $500 of us who were fortunate enough to have had the opportunity to attend and gather the fruits of knowledge and experience in Ritzville High School, the finest, the best, the most excellent school on earth.

Love to you all

Roy Gilson, Class of 1909.
