Maintenance Runs the Show and Cleans Up Kernel Dedication 1990

The members of RHS would like to thank the maintenance crew by saying how much we appreciate their work in keeping the grass cut for football games and by keeping the ag shop clean for the students to use. The members of RHS are also thankful that the light bulbs are changed, the rooms are vaccumed, and during the winter the sidewalks are snow and ice free.

The experience of the crew varies on how long they have been working for the Ritzville School District. Tiny Brewer has been working here for 17 years. Tiny feels his job is rewarding because people from the community often visit the grade school and compliment on his good work. His job includes maintaining the grade school, junior high and the boiler room.

With almost as much experience as Tiny, Brian Hilzer has been working here for 16 years. Brian remembers a hair-raising experience in October of 1989 when he was looking for a bomb in the high school. He did not know where it was, what it looked like or if it even existed. Brian always likes Homecoming because everybody dresses funny and it makes him laugh.

Brian vacuums and does maintenance work in the high school and generally whatever the administration wants him to do.

Deni Atkinson and Martha Wagner work as ground keepers. Their jobs include cutting grass for football games, planting flowers and keeping the Gilson Gym in working order.

Besides working in the gym, Martha has been driving a bus 17 years and working on the ground crew for 5 years.

Deni ran his own furniture business before starting work for the school but has been working on the ground crew for 1 year. During the winter Deni cleans the gym for Basketball games and works as an overall handiman.

Les Gosselin works in the grade school and junior high school helping Tiny Brewer do maintenance work. Les also cleans the lunchroom tables during noon hour and in the early morning hours he cleans the ag shop for the students.

As soon as the faculty walks into the school building, their work begins. The students aren't here yet, but our ever devoted teachers are hard at work. They review lesson plans, correct last minute papers, or attend one of the many meetings scheduled or unscheduled. They enjoy the little bit of peace and quiet before students tromp into the building. The bell rings and a whole different phase of the day begins. Classes start. Homework is collected, new concepts are taught, and assignments are given. Soon the day is over but the teachers are still not done with their day. Students can rely on teachers to help with any problems that we might have, be it academic or personal.

The teachers here do not just teach. Counseling and parenting are added to other responsibilities. Teachers are willing to listen and aid us in any way. The faculty here at RHS does work above and beyond the call of duty.

The eager Harvester staff has many tasks to accomplish before each paper comes out. Each month they brainstorm, come up with topics, and research on their topics. Once the features are written, news-stories and beatsheets are gathered, the class intrudes on Mrs. Edwards' typing I class. Between confiscating computers and badgering students for "What If" questions Mrs. Edwards' typing class is never dull. Whether xeroxing, proofing, typing, or brainstorming, their first period block slips by quickly.

1. Top row: Cody A., Terry H., Kathy S. Bottom row: Erica M., Kristina B., Jennie M. 2. Kristina B. vigorously writes copy as Andy S. contemplates his next feature article. 3. As the morning begins Cody A. and Terry H. get ready to work on columns and sports news for the next issue. 4. Brainstorming for ideas, Kathy S. and David M. add their input into feature articles. 5. Kathy S., Harvester Editor, adds her leadership and expertise to the layout, typing and organizing of the monthly newspaper.

The creative and enthusiastic Kernel group spends their hour each day designing catchy and attractive layouts. From writing imaginative copy to cropping pictures their job is never finished. With layouts comes pressures of deadlines and organization. The Kernel began the ninties selling ads, organizing and reorganizing the ladder diagram for pages, and taking a day off to go to Spokane for Taylor Day. Flexibility and teamwork with photographers is a major factor in producing a successful annual.

Puzzled about what pictures to use for her layout, Sonya C., contemplates a minute.

Editors of Annual and Harvester spend a great deal of their spare time doing the little things that add up to be precious in the end. Often times deadlines force the editors into added work, organization, and leadership roles. Photographers devote their time by using sixth period to develop film and print pictures.

This year the class of '91 participates in many activities. With more difficult classes such as Chemistry and Alegebra III, the Juniors are starting to prepare for life after high school. Some members of the class start to take ASVAB, PSAT, and SAT tests. A few begin their search for a college and many look for jobs. Other than academics, the class is also responsible for the Prom and setting up the Junior/Senior Banquet. All in all, it's a busy year for this active group.

B. Smith runs on the senior relay team during homecoming.

Junior guys prepare for homecoming tug of war.

"Rockin Round the Clock" during homecoming is J. Cutler and J. Wellsandt.

Senior guys express their spunk.

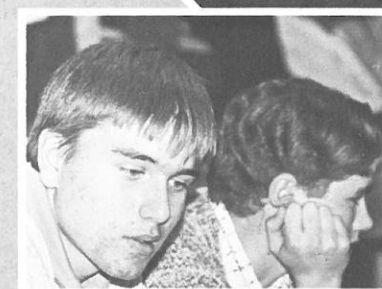

B. Pitman thinks intensively to figure out an algebra problem.

Showing "togetherness" at RHS are K. Bauer and S. McBroome.

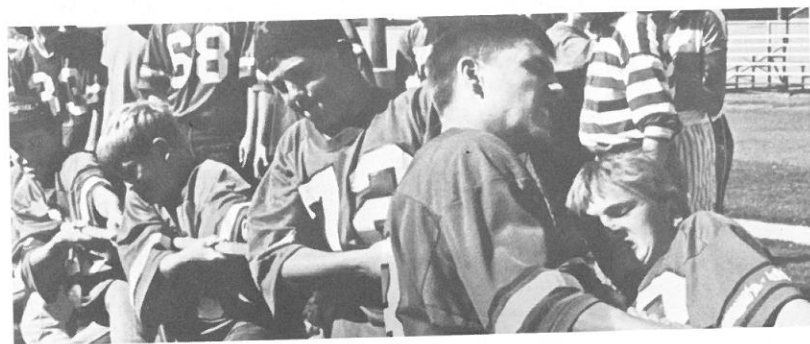

D. Danekas shows his stuff during a football pep assembly.

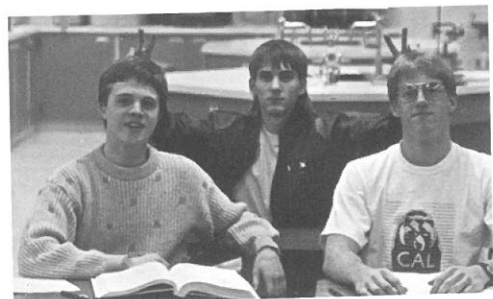

D. Carlson and R. Kuster sit in the stands watching the girls' basketball game, before the boys' game.

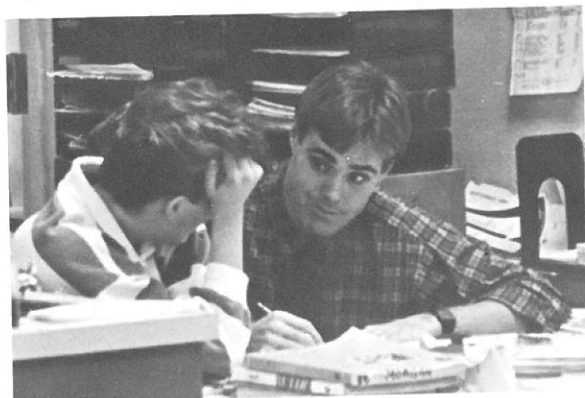

Students

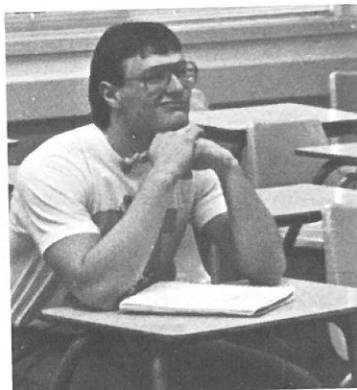

The Freshman boys tug hard against their opponents.

During Adv. Biology, Cody A. gives a demonstration on how antlers form on animals.

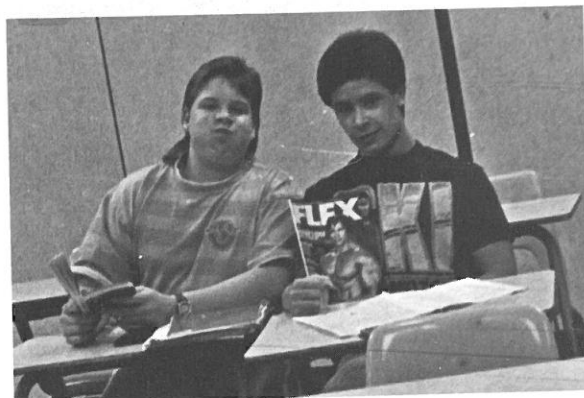

Mr. Driessen gives individual help on the basics of chemistry to Stacy H.

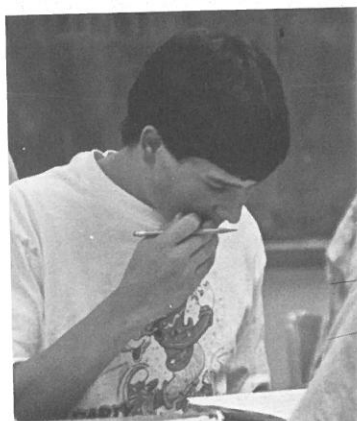

Brad M. gets nervous while trying to do a math problem during Alg. III.

Shannon M. and Karla D. share knowledge to finish their homework in Mr. Driessen's study hall.

Bryan R. and Dan T. look at the FLEX Magazine and pose.

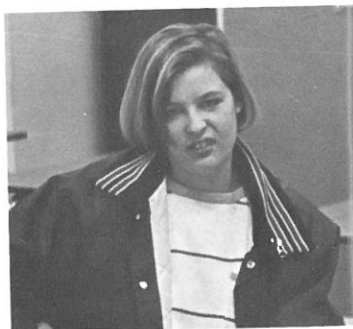

While watching a video on current world problems, Jon G. shows his enthusiasm.

As a member of the Harvester, Janis M. works on an article for the next month.

Gina O. and Karin S. dressed up to fight for peace and order at RHS during homecoming.

The Freshman girls struggle in school and activities as do all students.

In their spare time, these classmates get together and gossip.

Pam H. prepares for the future by studying the computer during 3rd period.

Trent W. tries to get in a few quick minutes of studying before class starts.

Around them, Stacy H., Russ H., and Emilee M. try to study while jokes are being made.

(1) Excitement and energy sparkles RHS as cheerleaders lead yells and (6) R. Keetch electrifies the band "Sinister." At the Alumni Assembly (7) B. Moore smashes the pie in S. Anglin's face on the spirit ladder while (2) B. Barker swings K. Schaefer to the sounds of "Rock Around the Clock." Distastefully (8) T. Schell and B. "Rockin' the Century" Homecoming '89 starts with Hero and Villain day. The hallways tremble with copies of Batman, Mighty Mouse, and Catwoman. "Homemade" heroes stomp the classrooms. At noon, our heroes wait patiently for the pop and banana baring contest. A Sophomore guy and Freshman girl receive the honor.

Excitedly "rockin' down the brightly decorated halls on Tuesday, students dress as opposite or in togas. The day's event, the egg and cucumber toss, hurdles the Sophomores to success. Back as Animals or Tacky Tourists on Wednesday, the Broncos anxiously await the mid-day competition. Today's event is the watermelon eating contest — a contest for "slupers" and "sloppers." Obviously hungry, the Seniors win hands down.

Thursday — school color day — ends in class competition on the football field. Tug of War pulls the Seniors and Freshmen in as winners. The Obstacle Course is dominated by Juniors as is the 6-legged race and the "Mr. Ritzville '89." Another hungry individual representing the senior class devours first place in the pie eating contest.

But the day isn't over yet. The traditional serpentine and bonfire wraps up the evening activities. Class chants won by the Juniors voice enthusiastically for Friday's game. The royalty is introduced.

What could conclude such an exciting week? Only the final assembly featuring visiting alumni, the presentation of royalty, and class and alumni skits. Dressed "to the Nines," students cheer on as each class presents a dance routine of the 60's. Seniors win the homecoming competition.

What a great week! Homecoming '89 is one of success — a challenge to repeat in 1990.

The band of RHS has been working on their biggest goal all year: to play concert band music with the skill displayed in pep band. This year's students like songs that are challenging to their technical and musical ability. Whereas Mr. Koch doesn't have musical favorites, the students like "Tusk," a song recorded by Fleetwood Mac in 1975. The band practices hard every day during third period. They perform for these occasions: Wheatland Community Fair Parade, The Ritzville Days Parade, The Christmas Concert, the Pep Band Festival, Bi-County Honor Band, The Apple Blossom Festival Parade, the Lilac Festival Parade, and the concert in the park. Besides all of those performances, the band plays at all home games and lights up the basketball tournament with their music. And, not to forget the most important day — senior graduation. Alas, for the seniors who are part of the band, Mr. Koch has some special words: "They have always been loyal, hardworking, and have contributed in both quality and quantity past and beyond what was expected of them."

The trumpet section (1) sharpens the tone and adds to the pitch of RHS Band. During a moment of quiet, M. Pratt (2) gets ready for the next onslaught of powerpacing drums. I wonder who they are spying on... S. Reilly, C. Hille and S. Hille sure seem interested. J. Gardner (4) softly melodies along with the 3rd period band class. Time to practice all their songs, the band class (5) gives their best during 3rd. period. Guys and gals in the band's flute section (6) play awesomely during practice. Members of the RHS band (7) practice harmoniously for the upcoming Spring Concert. "If you don't pay attention now!..." D. Koch (8) informs the band members of the consequences. In deep concentration J. Schaefer (9) plays bass to song pieces performed during class.

Dance and Choir, a nice combination! R. Keetch and B. Barker (1) volunteer for solo performances during choir. (2) Choir is not only time to sing, obviously it's time to share ideas for B. Brown and S. Colemann. With total concentration, W. Galbreath (3) adds his base share of the 5th period choir. Anxiously waiting to start singing, D. Selcho (4) cheers the others on with antics. While R. Brown and J. Gering (5) reach for the high notes, K. Schaefer wonders about the harmony. E. Moeller and D. Carlson (6) obviously sing the same notes, keeping breaths in between. (7) Waiting for Mr. Koch to announce the next song, members of choir take a little break. (8) RHS Choir members are in great shape and perform like crazy. In the "Junior-Section" M. Kenney, H. Harting and R. Brown (9) wonder which song will be performed next. Pouting? Not wanting to sing? Confused? (10) B. Gordon, D. Danekas, M. Phipps and T. Kimble totally "space out."

Choir has practiced very hard during 5th period throughout the school year. They perform at many occasions such as the Honor Band/Choir Festival held in Ritzville. They not only give their best during important performances but also do magnificently during the everyday practice. The greatest experiences, expressed by Mr. Koch, were "that freshmen have learned that they can contribute a great deal musically to Choir, and that students also learn that there is more to music than singing the right notes." In general, Mr. Koch is very proud of his RHS — musicians when they "pump up the jam."

There are always students that put forth extra effort and receive special recognition for RHS. They are award-winners or take place in special competitions, or are in special clubs at the High School, or even are involved in outside-school activities. To honor these students, the special-effort pages are set up.

SPECIAL EFFORT SPECIAL EFFORT SPECIAL

Under the direction of Ms. Schwisow, the speech and drama class (4) performed outstandingly this year in class and in the drama "Cheaper by the dozen." Brenda H. and Carlan C. (2) overcame their nervousness and doubts and ran for "Fair Queen." Throughout the entire year Bo P., Stephanie T., Matt H., Brad M., and Jason H. (3) did an awesome job at judging "dirt," and placed 4th at the National Soil Judging Contest. Though Sheri C. and Becky B. gave all they had in the "Young Woman of the Year" Contest, judges selected Mistee P. for queen and Emilee M. and Karla D. as princesses. (4) Camp Wotten is a fun activity every year and in 1990 Garrick M., Jason W., Cody A., Gerald M., Kim M., Alissa M., Janna K. and Kenny M. (5) made it even better. A "new wind" came from Germany this year with Nicky W. and Kristina B. (6) who gave their best to fit into RHS and did their share. Have you ever been a page for the governor? Somebody has — Dan T. (7) He spent a week in Olympia to assist Washington's governor, Booth Gardner. Eager to learn and improve, RHS's Knowledge Bowl team (8) devoted time practicing 6th period. They competed and fought diligently against other schools and did their best. Ritzville's tradition continued this year with the election of the students and athletes of the week. (9)

Six smart (JUST LUCKY???) students participated in the WA-State High School Mathematics contest. Alissa M., Garrick M., Sheri R., Nicky W., Scott K. and Gabe D. did their very best to win. (1) Proudly representing RHS, Sheri R., Kristina B., Mistee P. and Brandon H. (2) went to the FBLA — State competition in Seattle. Founded by the two RHS Exchange Students the "German Club" (3) gave pupils the opportunity to learn about a foreign country and discuss family trees which go back to Germany. As another extracurricular activity, RHS represents well in the Bi-County Business Contest (4) bringing home many ribbons. This year's honor band/choir (5) performed outstandingly this year and definitely is worthy to be mentioned in "Special Effort." The 1990 Girls-boys state participants are: Dan T., Trent W., John G., Karla D. and Emilee M. (6) Honors came to RHS for three outstanding writers. Shannon A., Becky P. and Sheri C. (7) won at the American Essay Contest. The proud winners of the "Keep WA Green" Contest are: Melissa P. and Brandon H. (8) Set up in the same time slot as Study hall, a new class of Advanced Biology was widely accepted. (9)

FBLA

Leadership. Responsibility. Experience. Three words with important meanings. A member of FBLA quickly learns the meanings of these words and how to apply them. Leadership is an important quality that enables one to stand out from others. Responsibility is a key factor in anything whether it is an occupation or a simple task. Experience enables us to make wiser decisions in our lives. Future Business Leaders of America provides students with experience and insights into the business world helping prepare them for a successful future.

Takin Care of Business

Mrs. Shirley Edwards teaches business classes at Ritzville High School and is also FBLA advisor. She takes her members to conferences in Spokane at the community colleges, Cheney at EWU, and even as far as state conventions in Seattle. The time and effort Mrs. Edwards puts into the club is time well spent since the experiences she provides are returned to society through the kids she has taught. FBLA gives students experience with the aspects of business and teaches them to deal with those aspects. With Mrs. Edwards as advisor, all these goals are easily reached.

The Future Farmers of America are more than judging teams and mechanics. FFA is involved in many community projects, such as BOAC (Building Our American Communities), the Wheatland Community Fair, and the Spring Youth Fair. But don't count out the judging teams. The Ritzville soils team for 1989-90 won the Washington state soils contest and will represent Washington state in Oklahoma for the fifth year in a row. The soils team did well at four contests they participated in. As the competition became more challenging, the team worked harder to earn their way to the state contest on Oct. 17. The soil team placed second at Wilson Creek. The team also placed second at the Adams Conservation District meet. The first contest went well for the first judging contest, Ritzville placed first out of twelve teams at the Franklin county contest. Fourteen of the top twenty contestants were from Ritzville placing in the top twenty at the Franklin Conservation District contest. The "Big Day," Oct. 21, was the state soils contest at Yakima. The team placed first out of fourteen teams to earn the right to represent the state of Washington in Oklahoma.

The team that represented Washington at the National Soils Contest were from Ritzville. The team members are from, L to R: Bo Pitman, Matt Hille, Brad Manke, Jason Hilzer, and Stephanie Teleck.

During Fitting and Showing at the Wheatland Communities Fair, Cassie Valdez, Chris Wellsandt, Bob Moore, and Stephanie Telecky show excellent herdmanship.

Having a laugh during a stressful Ag class, Jeff H. and Wade G. work on the milling machine.

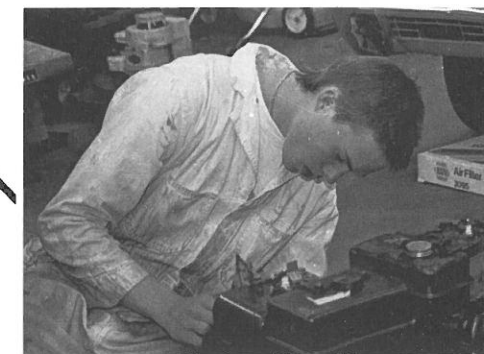

Standing by one of the many new farm advances, the Challenger 65, Ryan Kuster and Kirk Dugger show what Ag is all about.

One of the many Fund raisers for the Spring Youth Fair, is making sausage. Jeff Hindman, Cory Stevens and Jason Hilzer show how its done.

In the Swine division at the Wheatland Communities Fair, Mark Kison and Chris Klettke take pride in showing their hogs.

Working on one of the many assignments required for Ag IV class, Erica A. Works on a small gasoline engine.

Ryan Kuster, the lone creed speaker, did excellent this year in his contests. He placed first at both sub-district and district. The livestock team did very well this year. The team placed first in all the contests they have yet participated in, including the Wheatland Community fair, the Spokane Interstate fair, and the Spring Youth fair. The FFA also makes sausage for the Spring Youth fair. The chapter made nearly 300 sticks of sausage in two batches. The FFA also sold oranges and grapefruit before Christmas. The Soils team sold garbage bags to help pay their way to Oklahoma. The top eight people with the most points in the chapter are awarded a fishing trip at the end of the year. Points are accumulated by doing work for the chapter or being a member on a team. People may not realize how successful the Ritzville Chapter of Future Farmers of America is. The FFA in Ritzville is very successful. Check it out sometime!

The Ritzville High School Honor Society inducted 17 new members on April 29 in the basement of the Lutheran church.

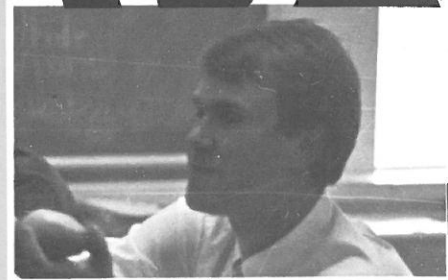

This year a new standard was used for new initiates. Because of the new grading system requiring all students to reach a B-average for credit in classes, the grades required to become a Honor Society member was raised accordingly. The Sophomore grade point average was raised from 3.4 to 3.8, the Junior average was raised from 3.2 to 3.6, and the Senior average from 3.0 to 3.4.

The chapter had their annual Bi-County Picnic at Manito Park on May 23rd. The group spent a fun day playing games and eating lots of food while relaxing without the stresses of a normal school day.

The ASB officers are valuable to the school. They listen to the students and hear what they say, trying to make changes concerning wants and needs. The ASB is organized and gets things accomplished that will benefit the school and students.

Red R Fitting the Jacket!

Red R is an organization of members that have played a varsity sport and have earned the "Ritzville Letter." Keith Collins is the Red R advisor of an estimated 80 students that have earned this award. With this achievement there is an option to purchase a lettermen's jacket to show their accomplishment. The people that earn this privilege of lettering represent not only themselves but Ritzville High School as well. To the lettermen, the jacket is merely a "coat" but in future years the coat becomes a symbol of high school years. As long as the jacket does not fade, the memories remain vivid.

"The main goal I had for the year was for the students to develop leadership," stated Mrs. Joanne Undeberg.

At the beginning of the year, the class set out to accomplish being able to be more self sufficient and take care of themselves out on their own.

Meal planning, cost comparison, shopping, preserving projects, and fruits and vegetables were all subjects that were touched upon in the food section. Moving on to the next quarter, sewing projects were sewn on the serger as were simple kits such as plush footballs and basketballs sewn on regular machines. Housing and interior design taught these students color schemes, furniture arrangements, and housing design by way of blueprints.

The club members are Sheri Coleman, Melissa Miller, Rikki Brown, Free Green, Heidi Harting, Erika Espinoza, Danny Carlson, Darin Banekas, Paul Edgren, Brian Gordon, Scott Hennings, Scott Klettke, Jennifer Kubik, Ryan Kuster, Janis Morton, Bryan Reinbold, Jeremy Reynolds, Brandon Schell, B. J. Valdez, Grant Weber, and Monica Werner.

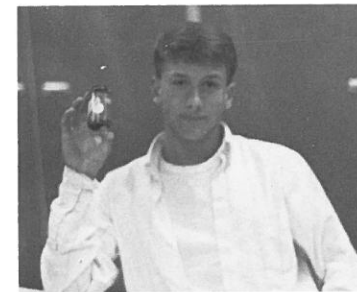

Mrs. Undeberg concluded, "If I could change the name of FHA, I would call it Contemporary Living."

The 1989 football season is remembered as the years the Broncos gave opponents fits. The Broncos finished 1-7 overall and 0-4 in league. Broncos stop with a 1 point, 2 point and a 5 point loss including the league losses, and are in every ball game right up until the end. They work together well, hard, and play every minute of the game. In spite of losing several heartbreakers, the Broncos continue to play hard and improve every week as the season goes on. The year includes a 12-0 whitewash of Kittitas during homecoming. The Broncos continue the tradition of playing hard as they could for as long as they could, and letting the chips fall where they may. Bronco football is bouyed by a 5-0-1 JV team that foretells great days. The season ends with its ups and downs but with an overall sense of success and growth.

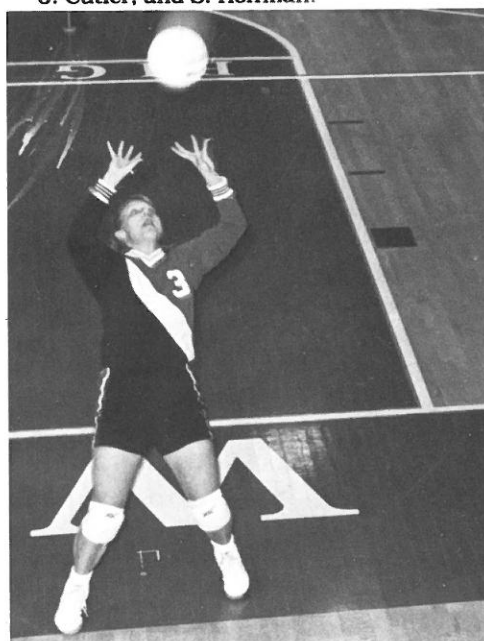

Adding to his yards rushing, Craig Link does just that as he adds another Bronco touchdown against Kittitas.

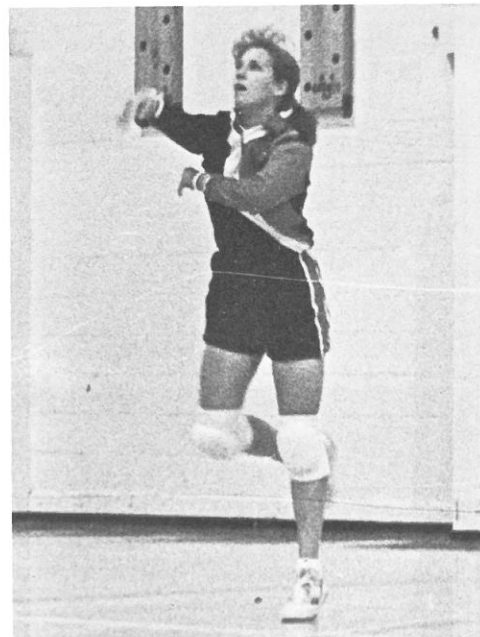

Going into Bi-County play-offs the girls know they have to win. Competition is stiff, but the girls easily breeze through two games defeating the Freeman Scotties. Then beating the State Champions, the Odessa Tigers, they capture the 3rd place seat into the District Tournament. The girls first defeat Cusick, and then Wilbur/Creston to move into the championship match with their rivals Reardan. Down 13-0 in the second match of the championship game, and battling back to an electrifying victory to capture the 1st place trophy, is the highlight of the season. The challenge of grasping the 1st place trophy at District would not be nearly as challenging as bringing home the State championship trophy. On Friday the girls would sweep Friday Harbor, White Swan, and Morton off their feet to leap into Saturday's State finals. Only the best 8 teams in the state would compete.

The Lady Broncos know they're "bad" when they wear their "do-wraps." Members include: Top row; N. Wiedeberg, A. Moeller, B. Hilzer, J. Gering, E. Moeller, B. Phipps, K. Danekas, S. McBroom, and T. Foss. Bottom row; K. Bauer, Kim Bauer, K. Murrell, D. Phipps, M. Pitman, J. Cutler, and S. Hoffman.

Set, Slam, Thank-You Ma'am Volleyball '89

Stiff competition from the Raymond Seagulls and the Reardan Indians hinders the Ritzville Broncos from placing in the top four. But the year still ends with a successful tournament and season.

Success, spelled with a variety of talent and a lot of fun and hard work, writes victory for the Lady Broncos. With a record of 2 and 3, the C squad wrap up the season in the black and red of victory. The J.V. tie up the year with 13 and 3, ending 2nd in Bi-County.

Finishing with 25 wins to 4 losses overall the varsity envelops their opponents which heaves them to 4th place in Bi-County standings.

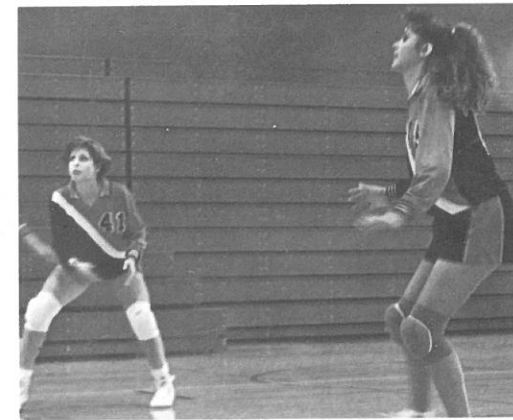

"All in all we had a terrific year," Coach Harder states. "The girls worked hard and accomplished many of the goals they set for themselves. They left their mark. There is not a volleyball team in the states who doesn't know who the Ritzville Broncos are!"

Boys' Varsity battles the 90's

Not even Odessa can stop Danny Carlson when he wants the basket to help the Broncos in league.

With arms crossed and minds psyched Clete Galbreath and Terry Holstrom prepare mentally for the last game against Reardan.

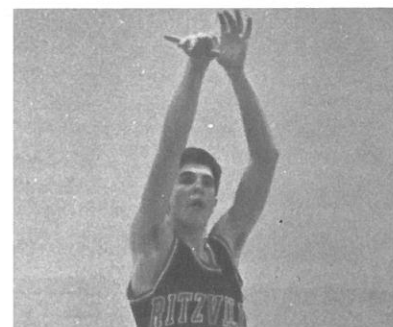

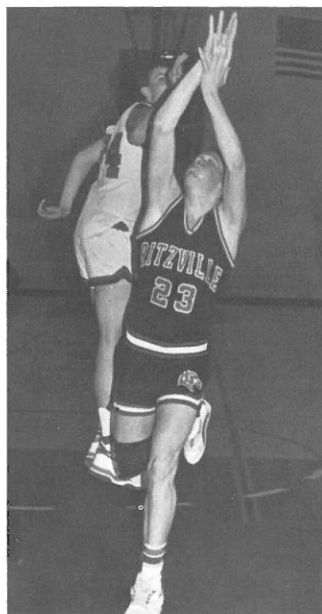

The boys' basketball season starts off slowly going 2-7 in the preseason. As they play on, the league standing improves to 5-6 and in the Bi-County they go 3-1. This qualifies the Broncos for district play. They lose a close game to Odessa which stops the Broncos from going on to the State Tournament. The Broncos stop short, but all through the season the players show tremendous improvement. All the players contribute in different ways by showing their team effort on the court as well as off. Coach Pflugrath is pleased with the younger players and how they have improved. Coach Dwight Pflugrath is pleased with the three Seniors who lead and inspire them. Waiting anxiously to be put into play, the on-lookers from the bench cheer for the Broncos after a good offensive maneuver.

The Broncos may not have gone as far as they wish during league play, but with so many improvements and so much effort they surprised themselves as well as other teams. Taking Wilbur/Creston for example, the Broncos play their best and come home with an outstanding win. The

Basket Ball

For the 1989-90 girls' basketball team, it was a year filled with goal setting, hard work, adjustments, and even some fun along the way.

At the start of the year, the lady Broncos got together and set the goals they wanted to fulfill.

- ▲ Adding support from the sidelines, the Bronco bench watches the action on the court.
- ◀ Mistee Pitman dodges a defender to attempt a lay in against ACH.
- Keeping a Lancer out of the key, Emilee Moeller blocks out to grab a rebound.

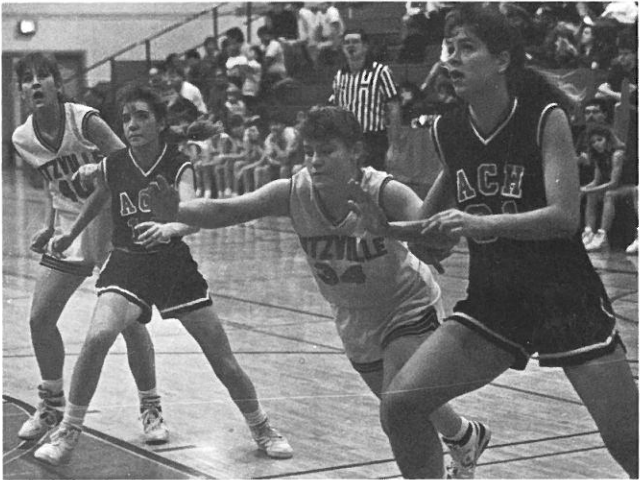

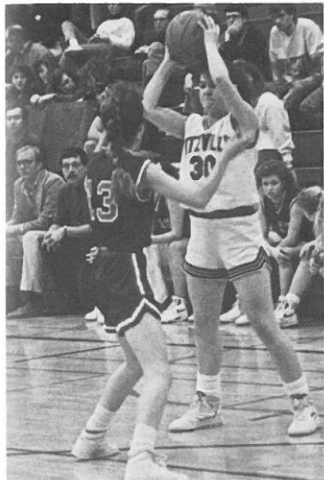

Throughout the year, the girls always kept in mind what they were reaching for. Many hours of hard work and dedication were involved, and all eleven girls put forth an immense amount of effort.

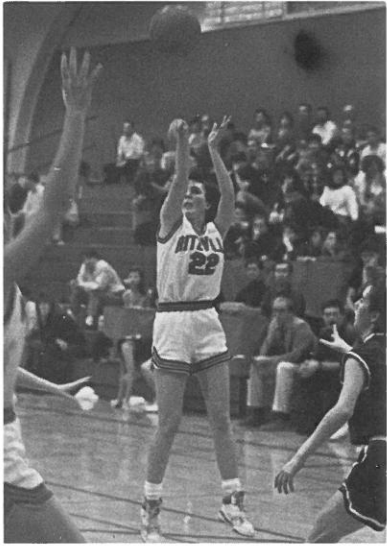

New to the Bronco coaching staff this year was Randy Heidenreich. Mr. Heidenreich was readily accepted by his players who adjusted to new philosophies introduced to them.

The Bronco team finished with a record of 21-26 overall, 7-9 league, third place at the Bi-County tournament, and fourth place in District play. All in all it was a successful season.

This year wrestling was a learning year for the five freshmen, one sophomore, and one junior. Also the wrestling team had a new head coach, Mr. Ed Arvin. Being assistant coach last year as well as having Mike Lynch's help this year helped the season go smoother. About his year Mr. Arvin said, the hardest part was "the lack of experienced bodies at practice." He also said that with a smaller team "the freshmen had more one on one coaching." When each of the wrestlers stepped out on the mat, it was up to them. They have to be quick and smart on their feet. Even though some of the wrestlers didn't make it to district they were still there cheering Lance, Jason and B. J. on.

At district finals held in Ritzville Jason won all his matches and went on to regionals. But since Lance and B. J. lost their district matches, they didn't go on. At the regionals Jason lost by one point and got 4th place. Thus, no one from the wrestling team went to state, but everyone is ready to try again next year.

The record for the wrestling season of 89-90 were as follows:

Lance K. ended his season with a 11-6 record and is looking forward to next year. With a record of 19-11, Jason H. ended his second year of wrestling. Gabe D. finished his season with a record of 1-17 and will do better with experience as the years go on. Jason F. ended the season 4-10 and will continue improvement with experience. With a record of 11-20, Scott H. concluded his season with great improvement and a bright future. Dan K. experienced a 1-17 record for the end of his season and will also do better as his years go on. Finally starting at the end of the season, B. J. Valdez ended with a 1-4 record and great possibility in the years ahead.

A special thanx from the team goes to Andy Hilzer for being the manager last season.

The 1990 baseball team had high hopes for the play-offs this year with 6 returning seniors. The season started off slow with three loses that were non-league. These first three games had many position changes. Their opening league game was a doubleheader home game against Reardan. The team lost both games to the Indians. This put a damper on the high spirits of the players. The team pressed on placing fourth in the Bi-County, but not close enough to get them to Districts. The team ended their season with a home game against the Lind Bulldogs. The Broncos "took it to them" and clubbed Lind with a 13-0 victory. The team lost 6 seniors that consumed the whole infield. The four varsity pitchers were all seniors. These factors could hurt the team next year, but good talent is returning next year.

They set their goals high and reached them. With a combination of hard work and enthusiasm, the Bronco Track Team excelled to the top. "This year track has been the greatest. We always pulled together when things started looking tough. Coach Collins told us that if we really wanted to reach the top we could, and we did," stated Debbie P. "... and the Champions of state B Track meet, girls' division are ... the Ritzville Broncos!!". These are the words that the '90 track girls will never forget. For the third time in a row Coach Collins has helped push his team to a Bi-County, District, and a State Championship. "All the hard work was worth it," said Kim B. "the feeling that you get knowing that you reached your goal is awesome. I wouldn't trade it for anything!" When asked how he felt about the guys' achievements, Bobby M. added, "I think that this year was a real success for the guys. Achieving 2nd at Bi-County is tough when you come in small numbers, but we did it." For four senior boys, this track season will never be forgotten. It has truly been a successful year for the Bronco Track Team, but with Coach Collins, how can it be less!

Because of popular demand, golf 1990 has been added to the extra curricular schedule at RHS. Three girls and eight boys comprised the eleven members of the golf team. Ron Barker, owner and operator of the Ritzville Municipal Golf Course, served as coach and mentor.

In competition the novice team did exceedingly well. For the boys: Darin D. received 14th in state; Brian G. got 17th in state; Jason W. received 24 in state, and Bo P. participated in state.

At the golf banquet, Ron Barker, coach for the golf team, passed out awards voted on by the team. He gave out: Most Improved Most Valuable, and Most Inspirational for both boys and girls. For the boys: Matt H. got Most Improved. Most Valuable went to Darin D., and Jason W. got Most Inspirational. For the girls: Cassie M. got Most Improved, Nicky W. was Most Valuable, and Katey D. got Most Inspirational.

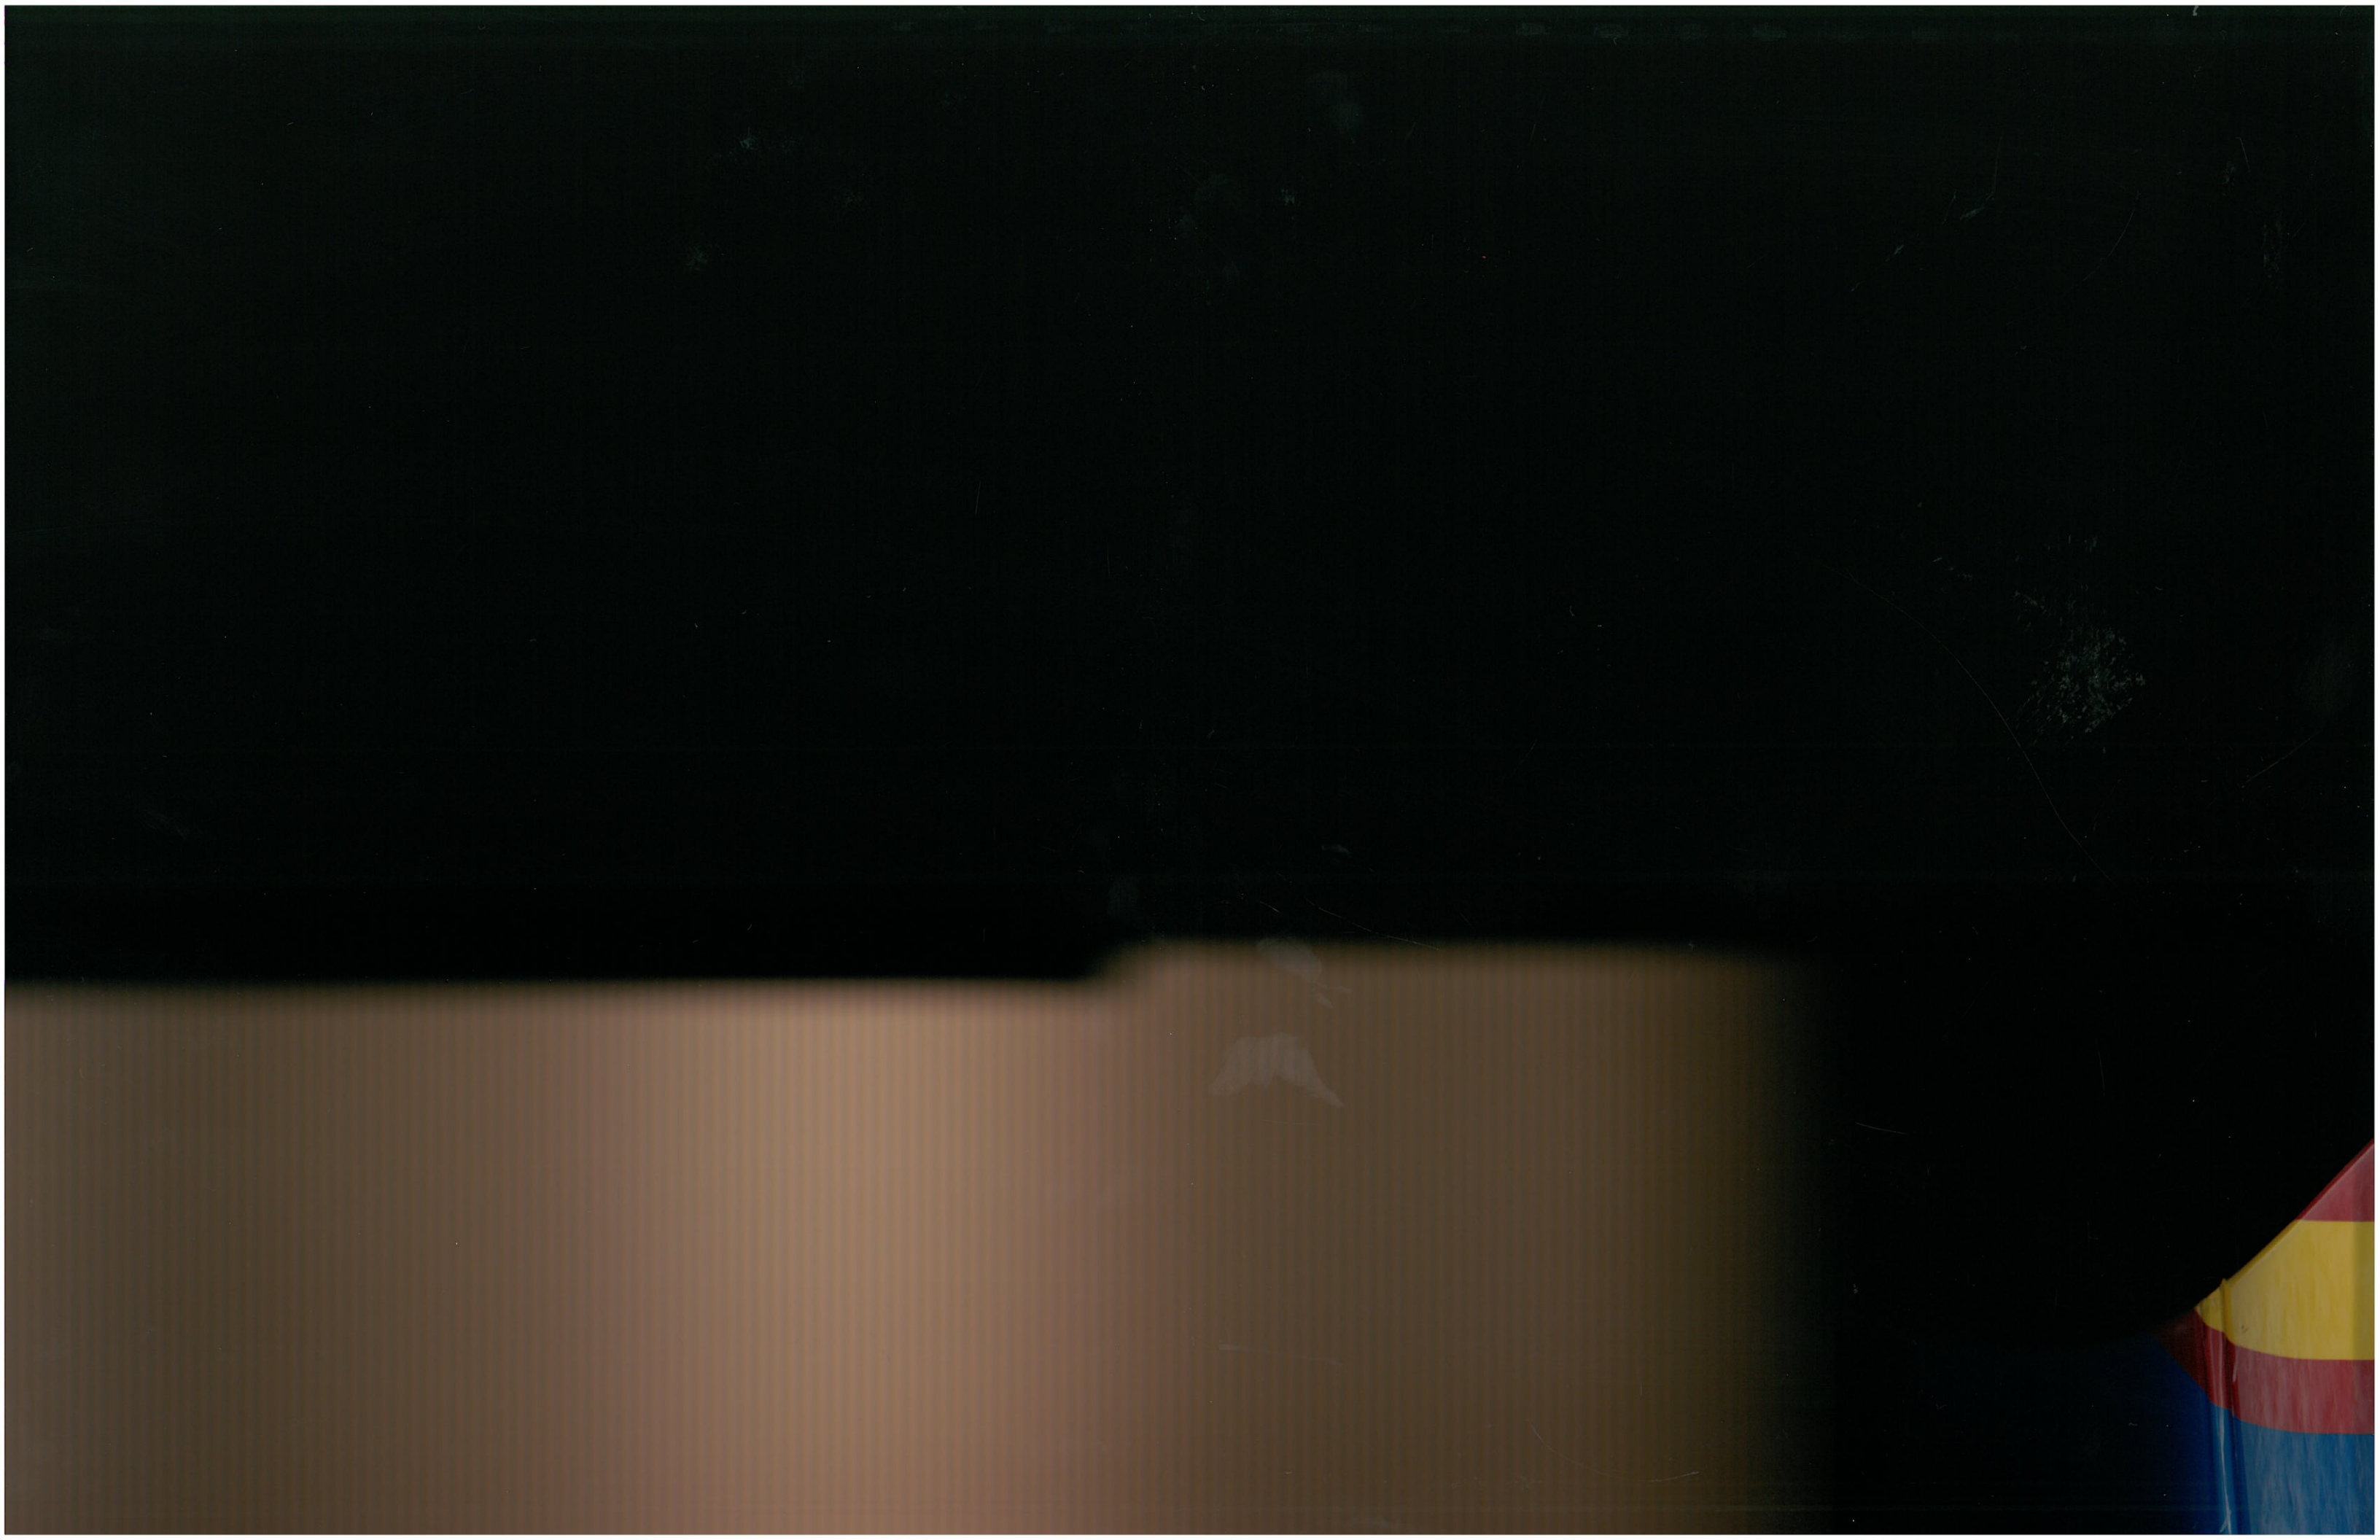

Ron Barker stated that he enjoyed working with this group and hopes that they and more will be back next year.

The golf team members thank Ron Barker for all his help this beginning season.

Many awaiting girls, trying out for 89-90 cheerleaders, experienced much anxiety when the judges panel, EWU Cheerleaders, showed up an hour late. All and all, everything worked out for thirteen sparkling smiles.

Football cheerleaders were: Kim Murrell, Emilee Moeller, Mistee Pitman, Karla Danekas, and Kim Bauer. They spent the week of homecoming peppering the student body and creating excitement for the volleyball and football players. Becky Phipps, Christy Hille, Kathy Schaefer, Darbie Shelman, and Jennie McKeen were the Varsity Basketball Cheerleaders. JV Cheerleaders were: Jennifer Schafer, Cassie Valdez and Monica Werener. They were alternates for Varsity Cheerleaders as well as rooters for the girls' and boys' JV teams. Since there were no volleyball cheerleaders elected this year, Shannon Anglin, Karin Schaefer, and Cassie Valdez volunteered for the job. Lori Olson coached the cheerleading squads. The time and experiences shared has created many lasting friendships.

White and royal blue filled the gym on Sunday, June 3, as the graduates of 1990 went out in style. Valedictorian, Alissa M., and Salutatorian, Janna K., made farewell speeches on behalf of the class. Principal John McGregor followed with a presentation of their future plans. As Superintendent Dennis Hauff announced each graduate, School Board Chairwoman, Sheri Wellsandt, presented each with his or her diploma and Marshals Craig L. and Becky P. gave each a white rose.

Numerous scholarships were given to deserving students. Over $130,000 to be used over a period of four years was the total amount given away. Clete G. received an Air Force ROTC scholarship for $30,000.

The graduates' drive to do their best and succeed proves that "No goal is too high if we climb with determination."

The senior class of 1990 would like to dedicate this year's Kernel to the memory of their beloved classmate Karla Ann Sager.

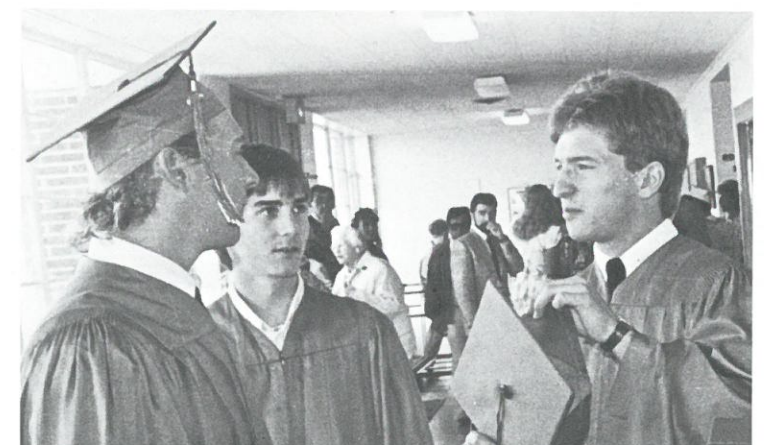

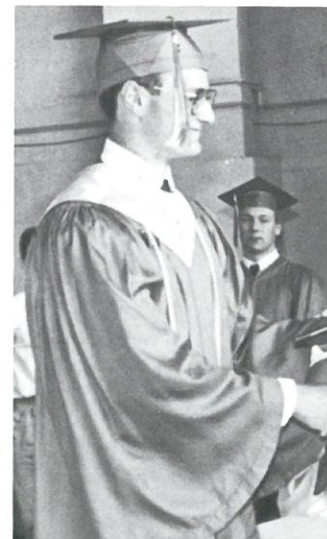

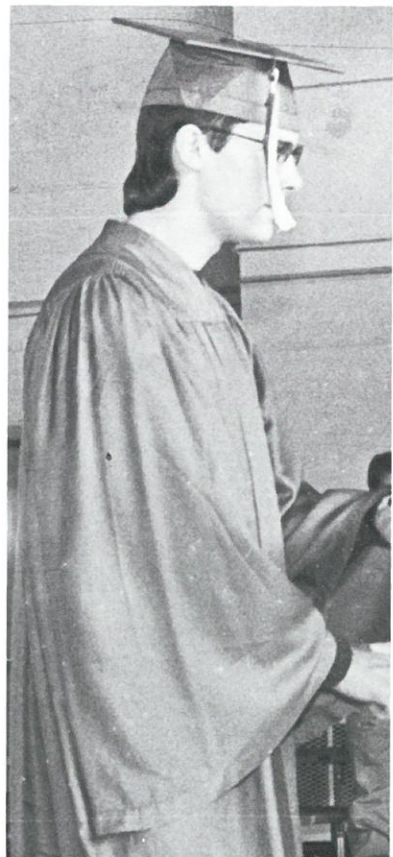

Karla was born on November 12, 1971, in Spokane, WA, to Ken and Gloria Sager. Tragically, on May 25, 1987, Karla along with both her parents, fell victim to a plane crash near Sprague Lake. Her death deeply touched every member of her class along with the other students and faculty.

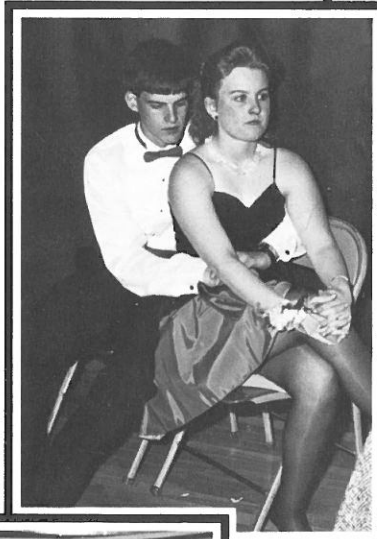

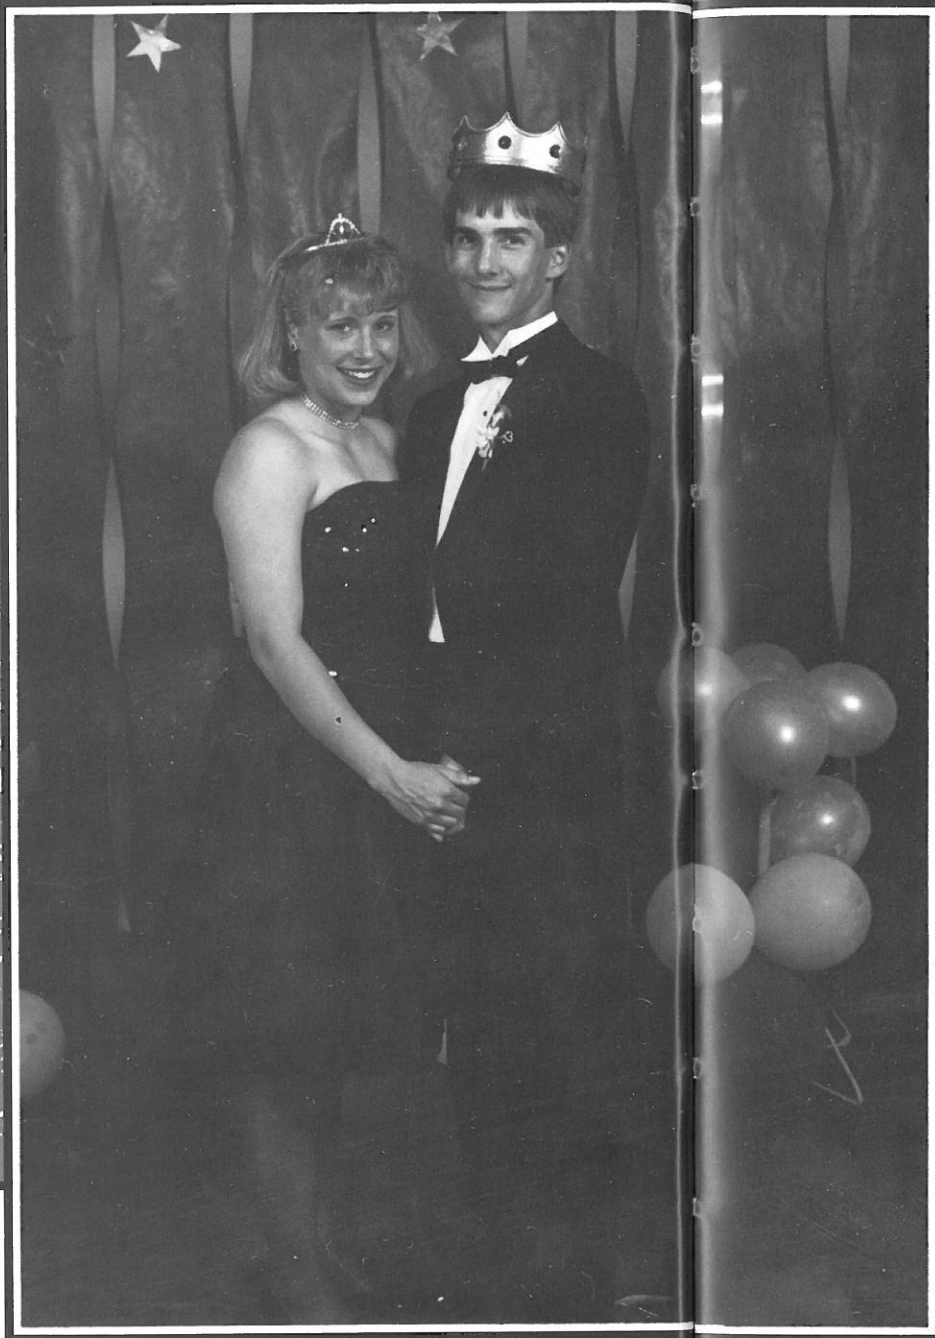

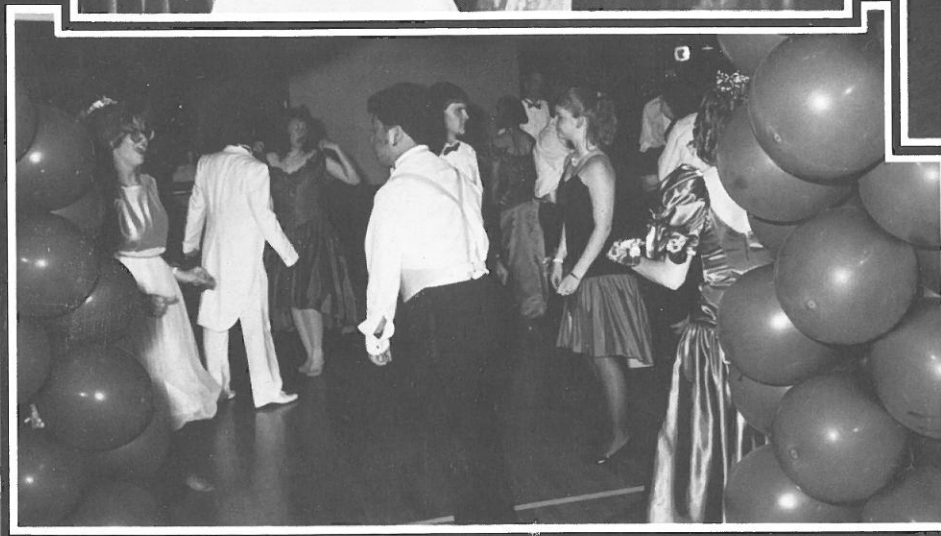

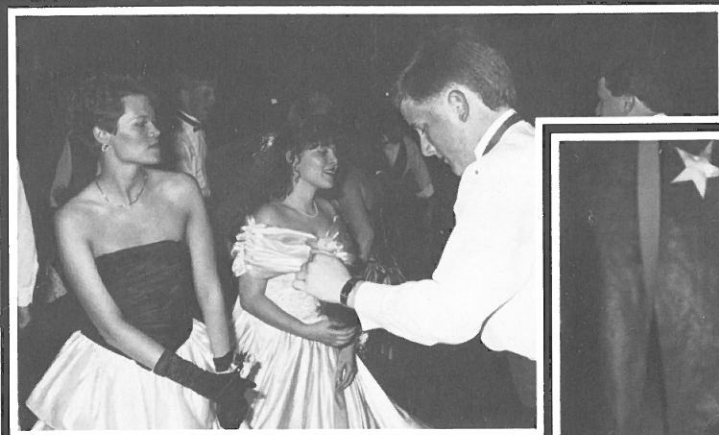

Karla had many talents and various different interests. She was actively involved in FHA serving as vice president. She was a very team oriented member and provided group spirit. Karla also enjoyed horseback riding and swimming. One could commonly find her biking to town to join friends at the pool. Karla was also extremely artistic especially in the creative aspects and enjoyed watercolor painting. In band, she played the clarinet and enjoyed marching and playing in concerts. Karla was also an extremely good student who tried her hardest at whatever she was attempting. Karla's personality was a tribute in itself. She never took things personally and was always sensitive to others. Everyone loved Karla's sharp wit and sense of humor.

The seniors want this page to be a lasting tribute to a classmate and friend they will all miss but never forget.

Reservations For Two

"Are you going to the prom?"
 "Yes! I'm so excited!"
 "Yeah, we're going to C.I. Shenanigan's — I can't wait!"
 This and similar conversations filled the halls and classrooms on April 28 — PROM DAY! That same day, while prom dates attended to the long hours of primping and preparing, the Junior Prom Committee (headed by Sonya Casper) was busy at work. The daily schedule for most students on this special day went like this:

5:30 — Only one hour until he picks me up — OH, NO!!
 6:00 — UH OH! Forgot my nails. Rush on a coat of Maybelline Pink.
 6:10 — I hope this dress still fits! Where are my earrings?
 6:20 — Oh, no, he's here early! Pin on the corsage. Oops! (Took three times!) Pin on the boutonniere.
 6:30 — Pictures, pictures, pictures! Hurry up, mom!
 6:40 — Leaving for Spokane in the sleek rented limo.
 7:20 — Arriving in Spokane.
 7:25 — Arrived at C.I. Shenanigan's!
 7:40 — What will I order? I hope he has enough money!
 8:20 — Boy, was that good! I hope I don't have any food in my teeth!
 9:30 — Entering the dance floor.
 9:40 — Dance, dance, dance!!! These videos are sure cool! I love the purple balloons and top hats.
 10:00 — Wow! Jamey Cutler sure looks great tonight. I'm glad Cody Arlt and she got prom King and Queen!
 10:10 — Time for pictures! Here, let me fix your tie.
 11:30 — I think I need a drink. Boy, this punch and cookies are good!
 12:30 — The place is starting to clear out! Better get going!
 What a night!

So April 28, 1990, was definitely a night to remember. So until next time, make your RESERVATIONS FOR TWO!

BACCALAUREATE

The Senior class of 1990 had their Baccalaureate at the Philadelphia Congregational Church on Friday June 1, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. The participating Seniors were dressed in their caps and gowns as they marched in to the chorus of "War March of the Priests." Escorts for the service were Dan Townsend and Becky Brown from the Junior class. Entertainment was provided by the High School Choir who sang "Song For a Russian Child" and "Lift Your Voice."

The Senior boys get together for one last shot before they go their separate ways.

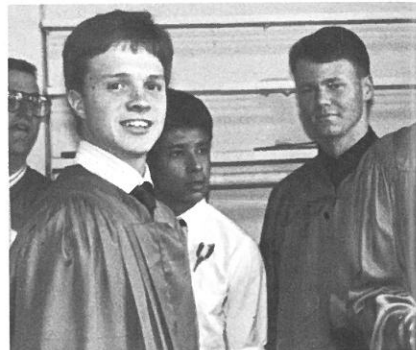

German exchange student Kristina Burkhardt smiles as she leaves the memories of R.H.S. behind.

Though few in number, the Senior girls have tons of spirit.

Before Baccalaureate, Bob M., Becky B., Andy S., and Jason W. try to relax and have a little fun.

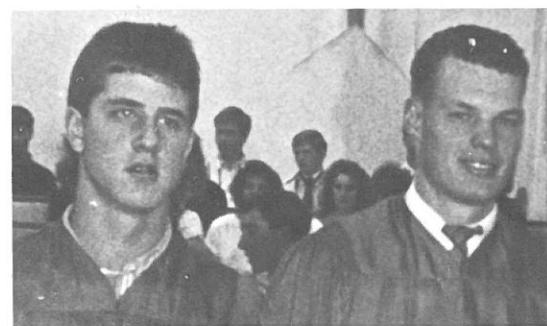

Bob M., Dan T., and Andy S. talk about old times before the procession.

The girls and guys "horse around" knowing that there isn't much time before the big day.

Bob B. sneaks in on a "girls only" taken in the basement of the Philadelphia Church.

Scott Y. and Clete G. relax after finishing the Baccalaureate services.

Scott Y., Delgene S., Shannon A., Janna K., and Alissa M. show how happy they are to finish high school.

Eagerly awaiting the line up for Baccalaureate services, classmates anxiously but happily share memories from the past years.

Conservative leads Brazil election

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Early unofficial returns Wednesday night showed conservative Fernando Collor de Mello leading Brazil's first free and direct presidential election since 1960.

With about 8 percent of the votes counted, Collor de Mello, who led most exit polls with 30 percent, had 2,225,909 votes, followed by left-wing populist Leonel Brizola with 1,628,735 votes, said Globo TV, the nation's largest network.

Late Wednesday the government announced a 12-hour delay in the official count, reportedly because of computer problems.

In third place was Luis Inacio Lula da Silva of the Marxist-orient-he had information that leaders of the 23-month-old Palestinian uprising had ordered increased use of firearms to attack soldiers.

Palestinians shot a soldier to death Monday in Gaza, but the PLO has directed that firearms not be used. The most common weapons are stones and firebombs.

Forty-one Israelis have been killed since the uprising began Dec. 8, 1987, including eight soldiers. Israeli soldiers or civilians have killed at least 615 Palestinians.

Whatever the PLO orders, there was a call to arms during a rally in
